Introduction:

The Columbia Phonograph Company was formed in January 1889 as the regional subsidiary of the North American Phonograph Company serving Washington D.C., Maryland and Delaware. By November of the same year – before such activity was sanctioned by the head company – they had begun recording and marketing their own musical cylinders. In the following years, Columbia developed this niche and became the industry leader for entertainment recordings.

This discography presents, for the first time, a list of who and what Columbia recorded from the first advertising brochure in November of 1889 until the establishment of a permanent-numbering series in August 1896, which is documented in Kenneth Lorenz' Two-Minute Brown Wax and XP Cylinder Records of the Columbia Phonograph Company and Tim Gracyk's Cylinder Lists: Columbia Brown Wax, Columbia XP, Columbia Twentieth Century BC and Indestructible. This document begins with and expands on Tim Brooks' 1979 ARSC Journal article A Directory to Columbia Recording Artists of the 1890's, which includes a list of known catalogs.

We don't claim that this list is comprehensive – in fact, the list of available catalogs below acknowledges two known gaps – but considering the similarity between adjacent listings we believe it provides a representative picture of the recording activity of the most prolific recording program of the early 1890s, and in a broader sense, the story of the development of the recording industry in its first few years. Readers are invited to write the editor at mlug@loc.gov with additions or corrections.

Acknowledgements

The compiler would like to thank Tim Brooks for the initial inspiration for this study, as well as several integral scans and advice. Thanks also to Tom Tierney of the Sony Music Archives, Danielle Cordovez of the Rogers and Hammerstein Archives at NYPL and the staff of the Library of Congress Recorded Sound Reference Center for research assistance, and finally to Allen Koenigsberg, David Lewis, Steve Leggett for help, guidance and humor.

Editor's note

This document is presented in two main sections – the first, a list of artists and titles culled from the catalogs, de-duplicated and reorganized for easy reference. The second section is a collection of scans of the source catalogs, which provide additional information and illustrations. Please forgive the quality of some of these scans. They were compiled from a variety of sources and many are second or third generation copies.

All of the recordings referenced here are in the brown-wax cylinder format, not disc. "Discography" is used in a general sense, as how bibliographies often include more than books.

List of catalogs

The following list is adapted from Tim Brooks' "Columbia Record Catalogs: 1889-1899" published in ARSC Journal Vol. 11 No. 2-3, p. 130-138. Those labeled with a year and letter suffix are undated in print, and were dated approximately by Brooks. Those with an asterisk were unavailable to the editor and are presumed lost. Those without asterisks are reproduced in the latter part of this document.

*The Missing Pieces

In “Cylinder Records”, Duane Deakins describes the missing 1893 catalog (93A in Brooks), as follows:

“In addition to the whistling records by John York AtLee and selections by the U.S. Marine Band, there were other categories not previously included. Several pieces by the parlor orchestra were listed; Instrumentals with piano accompaniment included the following instruments: Clarinet (by William Phelps), piccolo (by E.M. Waterbury), flute (by E.M. Waterbury), xylophone (by Emma Williams – was she the first woman to make cylinder records?), and cornet (by A. Grasskurth). Vocals with piano accompaniment were recorded by the following: George H. Diamond – he made 39 sentimental numbers, such as MOCK NOT THE OLD AND FEEBLE; Charles DeWitt – he recorded eleven songs in German; John Atlee, Hal Otis, and L.B. Taylor recorded such selections as NICE GIRLS, ON THE BOWERY, and THE PARDON CAME TOO LATE. Finally included in this catalog were several pages of recitations by David C. Bangs (“Late of the Robt. L. Downing Company”), Pat Brady (“Humorous talking records”), Charles B. Hanford, and auctioneer records by an unidentified artist.”

In “Columbia Record Catalogs: 1889-1899”, Tim Brooks describes listing 96A as follows:

“Opera on Talking Machines. Gems of the lyric stage now perfectly reproduced. Latest triumph of the art of record making. ([number of pages and size of pages unknown]). Lists 16 “operatic choruses”, (including Gilbert & Sullivan selections, and one “negro song”) numbered 9301-16. These do not appear in any other catalog.

A letter to his dad
Always show respect, Joe
Firelight pictures of the past
Grace Conroy
He fell
He was a father
He was a soldier
Just to be at home
Keep a place at the table for Jack
Kiss my dear old mother
Madeline
Mock not the old and feeble
My mother's motto
My Son, my only son
My sweetheart's the man in the moon
Peggy Cline
She promised to meet me here
The broken home
The broken vow
The coast guard's daughter

The fight for home and honor
The song of father time
The songs my mammy sang to me
The spot where mother died
The wedding of the lily and the rose
They will never turn his picture to the wall
Time's up
Twelve months ago to-night
Velvet and rags
Waiting for an answer
We never speak her name
We were sweethearts, Nell and I
What will tomorrow bring?
When Ireland's free
When mother first taught me to pray
You gave me your love
You had better stay at home, lad
You will never know a mother's love again

His sweet face he never saw more
I departed
I found I was only dreaming (low)
I found it (low)
I handed it over to Riley
I remember, I forget
I thought it was mine
I went home wid Michael
I wish they'd do it now
I'm something of a liar myself
If I was only just behind her (low)
It's away out of sight (low)

Paddy Shay
She's more than seven
Since Murphy broke his pledge
Slide, Kelly, slide!
Some day, some day, some day
Such a nice girl, too (low)
The actors' boarding house
The first time in twenty-four years (low)
The Keeley cure
The law won't allow me to do it (low)
The night Casey went to the ball
The poor girl didn't know
They wanted me to take his place (low)
Those beautiful ladies (low)
Up with the angels now
Washington after twelve o'clock at night
(low)
What's the use? (low)
When Hogan paid his rent
Yes, I don't think!
You can't think of everything
You'll find it very different when you're there

Phonographs and Phonograph-Graphophones.

Although some ten years have elapsed since Edison startled the world by inventing a machine that recorded sound and reproduced it at will, it is only within the past few months that this wonderful invention has been brought to such a degree of perfection as makes it of practical utility to the public at large. The original Phonograph, while valuable in demonstrating the possibilities of human invention, and as opening up a field of research in acoustics previously unexplored, lacked the elements essential for practical use. The metallic and sometimes indistinct sound-waves, that were emitted from the primitive tin-foil, the lack of proper incidental mechanical appliances, the want of a suitable material for the impression plate, and numerous other defects, made the invention useful principally in the laboratory of the scientist, or in the museum of curiosities.

All these early defects have at last been overcome, and the perfected Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone, for the multitudinous purposes for which they can be used, are as practical as the type-writer or the telephone in their respective spheres. By them the slightest shades and variations of the human voice are registered and reproduced with absolute accuracy. Music, whether vocal or instrumental, solo or multiple, in all its rhythm, melody and intonation, the lowest as well as the highest notes; in a word, all sounds of every kind and character, may be treasured up in these extraordinary machines and reproduced—not once—but thousands of times, and may be mechanically duplicated and multiplied to any extent. The utility of the invention at this early day can scarcely be estimated. The uses of an instrument with such manifold functions, would seem to be circumscribed only by the uses subserved by the property of sound itself.

How the Sound is Registered and Reproduced.

The perfected Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone in size occupy less space than an ordinary type-writing machine, and are much less complicated. Indeed their simplicity, and the readiness with which they can be operated by a novice, are among their remarkable features. The foundation principle consists in cutting minute indentations in a spiral line around the wax surface of a small cylinder, by means of a delicately adjusted cutting instrument, attached to a sensitive diaphragm, which is actuated by sound-waves, and afterward reproducing the same sounds by causing the cylinder to be revolved beneath a similar diaphragm, with a non-cutting needle point attached, which follows in and out of the indentations produced by the first cutting instrument, and thus sets in motion the same sound-waves. The wax cylinder or impression plate is less than six inches in length, and is held in place by suitable clamps.

The work of adjusting the recorder for registering is that of a moment, and the reproducer is as readily placed in position when it is sought to hear the registered sound. The cylinder is made to revolve either by a treadle moved by the foot, after the style of a sewing machine, or by a small electric motor, as may be desired, the latter having for its motive power a small bichromate or other ordinary electric battery. A rubber tube, with glass or vulcanite ear pieces to enable the listener more distinctly to hear, completes the apparatus. By means of a small horn or cone, the sound can be thrown out in a room or hall for greater enjoyment of an audience.

Practical uses of the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone.

While it is too early to foretell all the uses and necessities to which the perfected Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are destined to be applied, sufficient tests have already been made, in daily business use, to warrant the assertion that for all the purposes hereinafter enumerated the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are unqualifiedly practical and eminently desirable, and in making these statements there are not, as is too often the case with new inventions, any reservations or qualifications or any depending for their realization upon expected improvements. Upon the authority of thousands of disinterested users throughout the United States who have subjected the instruments to all varieties of tests and upon the certainty of operation which the machine itself demonstrates, these statements are made. As this pamphlet goes to press there are more than fifty machines in use in the Government Departments in Washington and the number is increasing daily, while the private subscription list in the same city is approaching the second hundred.

As a Stenographer.

Obviously one of the first uses of the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone is their use as a stenographer, for they present numerous superior features for that class of work. Leaving out of consideration the superiority, in absolute accuracy, which the Phonograph and Phonograph-

Graphophone necessarily possess, in reproducing the words spoken into them, persons having employment for stenographers will appreciate the advantage of having a "mechanical stenographer," which neither wants lunch hours nor holidays; which can work as easily in the dark as in the light; which is always at hand; which never interrupts the speaker nor loses a word; whose compensation is fixed once for all, and which never gets ill or weary. Any intelligent boy or girl can accurately transcribe the dictation by type-writer or pen.

Those who have heretofore been deprived of the services of a stenographer because of the attendant expense can now have an instrument which gives still more efficient service at a nominal outlay.

Utility for Ordinary Correspondence.

As a time and labor saver, what the sewing machine is to the needle, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are to the pen. Cylinders with messages recorded upon them, can be sent by mail, enclosed in light mailing cases, provided for that purpose, at ordinary postal rates. The percentage of persons to whom writing is a task of much labor is very large, and the percentage of persons who are unable properly to express their thoughts through the medium of writing, and yet who fluently express the minutest shades of their meaning by words of mouth is scarcely less. This is readily comprehended when one reflects that talking is natural—writing is artificial.

The most ignorant never hesitates to convey accurately his meaning when speaking face to face, while to write with accuracy and fluency requires previous training and education.

Besides, even the most scholarly and rapid writer cannot write one-tenth as rapidly as he can talk.

The Voice as a Guide to the Meaning.

In addition to the advantages alluded to, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone by reproducing the exact tones of the speaker, enable the hearer more completely to understand the meaning. The pleasure at times derived from listening to the voice of an absent loved one, is denied in the cold characters of a letter.

As an Educator.

For educational purposes, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are destined to prove an important factor in many ways. As an aid in teaching vocal and instrumental music it is invaluable.

To teach correct pronunciation of either native or foreign languages, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are invaluable as a supplement to a teacher or book. A child makes known every want with a knowledge of only 500 words, and a grown person seldom uses more than 2,000 to 3,000 words.

These 2,000 to 3,000 words arranged in the form of a narrative, together with the translation—sentence by sentence—carefully and distinctly spoken by a native of any foreign country, can be placed on say four cylinders. These cylinders can be manufactured in any quantity and sold at a small cost to the public. Elocution, also, as far as modulation, tone, and other qualities of the voice are concerned, can be easily taught through the medium of the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone.

A Boon for Commercial Travelers.

If a Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone were placed in every prominent hotel in the country, as doubtless will soon be the case, commercial travelers could more readily, more thoroughly and more accurately keep their principals at home apprised of their doings, and the details of the conditions and peculiarities of the territory through which they travel.

In many cases the writing of the daily letter is a source of greater concern to them than all the day's work.

Stored-up Music and Elocution.

As a source of instruction and entertainment, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are beginning to fill a large and profitable field.

For a small sum the possessor of a Phonograph or Phonograph-Graphophone is enabled to listen to songs by celebrated artists, as well as to the strains of the most distinguished European and American instrumentalists, and the recitations by renowned actors may thus be brought within the pecuniary reach of all. It can be readily appreciated how inestimable a benefit this application will be to the blind and the sick.

A Few of the Immediate Business Uses.

For lawyers and business men, at their homes or offices, it is a mechanical stenographer always at command. The cylinder, if the instrument be used at home, may be brought or forwarded to the user's office, and there transcribed by the type-writer.

Informal contracts may be perpetuated in the exact words and tones of the parties.

Instructions to employees may be given without their actual presence.

In doctors' offices, a patient calling during the physicians' absence, may verbally express his wishes to the instrument, to be heard only by the doctor on his return. The confidential character of the patient's communication is thus preserved. In the sick room the physician can leave for the nurse explicit oral instructions, thereby obviating the danger in such cases of depending upon poor memory.

Verbal representations by would-be customers may be perpetuated for use in case of future disputes.

Poor writers and spellers are enabled to communicate by mail without the disclosure of their educational defects.

For authors, lawyers, playwrights and clergymen, and all others who have manuscripts to prepare, the instrument will prove a most valuable time saver, and they will readily be able to judge of the actual effect of their words upon their hearers.

In newspaper offices especially, the instrument is of great use. Most, if not all editorials and other matter may be dictated, and the cylinders used by the compositors without the necessity of reducing the subject to writing, and it is particularly valuable as a saver of time in the last hurried moments before the paper goes to press. Telegraph operators can send press and other dispatches direct from the dictation of the cylinder; no manuscript being required.

Actors and theatrical managers find it most advantageous in memorizing, and in all the details of rehearsals.

For use between an office and factory, or between a main and branch office, there is the "daily cylinder," into which the different heads of departments speak their wants, with greater particularity of detail than is possible through a letter correspondence, and such "daily cylinder" can be forwarded in the same manner as a letter.

All Post Offices will be supplied with these instruments, to enable persons to correspond—a reasonable toll being charged per phonogram. The receiver, if not possessing an instrument, may, by going to his Post Office or to the company's agencies, and paying a small fee, use their machine for translating the cylinder.

Railroad managers and superintendents will find the invention very useful to transmit and receive quick communications, when it is inconvenient to write, or time is limited. All orders to agents can be issued much more advantageously by phonograms than by the present system.

A beneficial field, by means of these instruments, is thrown open to the blind, enabling them to communicate readily with their distant friends.

Phonographs or Phonograph-Graphophones are leased at $40 per annum, but not sold, and blank cylinders, and cylinders with musical and other records upon them, are sold at a reasonable price.

For the Home.

In the home circle, recipients of phonograms may enjoy the pleasure of listening to the voices of their absent correspondents.

Sayings of children and others may be perpetuated in the language and tones of the speakers.

Music, vocal and instrumental, is reproduced with marvellous accuracy.

The musical feature is already attracting a great deal of attention and giving most satisfactory entertainment at the homes of subscribers. This Company keeps constantly in stock musical records of orchestras, of brass bands of eight pieces, cornet solos, flute, piccolo, violin, organ, piano, banjo and other musical records, which are sold at a reasonable price and give subscribers the opportunity of having at home at all times a high class of music. We also have whistling solos by artistic whistlers, which are very popular.

WHAT SOME SUBSCRIBERS ARE DOING.

Most of the Phonograph-Graphophones in use in the territory of the Columbia Phonograph Company serve in the place of shorthand or longhand amanuenses, taking the dictations of busy men. There are, however, a number of subscribers who are using, with great success, instruments for other purposes. Prof. Bischoff, the celebrated blind organist, uses a Phonograph to record piano melodies which he composes from time to time, having the melodies afterwards transcribed to paper from the machine by an amanuensis. Mr. O. P. Austin, journalist, has a printer's case on his Graphophone table, dictates his press dispatches, and the compositor sets type from the spoken words of the Graphophone. At the office of the Century Dictionary, a Phonograph is used to give examples of correct and incorrect pronunciation. At the Bull Run Panorama the Phonograph delivers lectures descriptive of the scenes there displayed. Hon. Curtis J. Hillyer uses in his family five Graphophones, solely for direct correspondence, the cylinders being sent by mail to and from the members of his family, who hear in each case the message in the voice of the speaker.

Members of Congress, who have large correspondence and who have to pay for clerk hire out of their own pockets, especially appreciate the machines as time and money savers. They can dictate as rapidly as they choose, when they choose, and utilize for the transcribing a very much less expensive class of help than would otherwise be the case, often enlisting members of their own families. Already this Company has on its list Representatives Peters, of Kansas; Struble, of Iowa; Atkinson, of Pennsylvania, and Breckinridge, of Kentucky, and applications have been received from many Members for machines for the coming session.

During last session Graphophones were in constant use by the reporters of debates of the House of Representatives, who, by this means, were enabled to do their work with only one-half the clerical force previously required.

The following named appear among the subscribers of the Columbia Phonograph Company, which controls Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia:

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS.

Since the previous edition of this pamphlet was printed, improvements of great importance have been made, both on the Phonograph and the Phonograph-Graphophone, and are being placed upon all new instruments, while those in the hands of subscribers are being, at the expense of this company, equipped with the latest devices.

The improvements to the Phonograph consist in taking away more than fifty parts, simplifying the instrument, making it automatic in adjustment, and easy to handle.

The improvements to the Graphophone consist principally in increase of sensitiveness, so that it is not necessary to use loud tones in dictation; indeed a whisper may now be recorded and distinctly reproduced on either machine.

Phonographs and Phonograph-Graphophones.

Although some ten years have elapsed since Edison startled the world by inventing a machine that recorded sound and reproduced it at will, it is only within the past few months that this wonderful invention has been brought to such a degree of perfection as makes it of practical utility to the public at large. The original Phonograph, while valuable in demonstrating the possibilities of human invention, and as opening-up a field of research in acoustics previously unexplored, lacked the elements essential for practical use. The metallic and sometimes indistinct sound-waves, that were emitted from the primitive tin-foil, the lack of proper incidental mechanical appliances, the want of a suitable material for the impression plate, and numerous other defects, made the invention useful principally in the laboratory of the scientist, or in the museum of curiosities.

All these early defects have at last been overcome, and the perfected Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone, for the multitudinous purposes for which they can be used, are as practical as the type-writer or the telephone in their respective spheres. By them the slightest shades and variations of the human voice are registered and reproduced with absolute accuracy. Music, whether vocal or instrumental, solo or multiple, in all its rhythm, melody and intonation, the lowest as well as the highest notes; in a word, all sounds of every kind and character, may be treasured up in these extraordinary machines and reproduced—not once—but thousands of times, and may be mechanically duplicated and multiplied to any extent. The utility of the invention at this early day can scarcely be estimated. The uses of an instrument with such manifold functions, would seem to be circumscribed only by the uses subserved by the property of sound itself.

How the Sound is Registered and Reproduced.

The perfected Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone in size occupy less space than an ordinary type-writing machine, and are much less complicated. Indeed their simplicity, and the readiness with which they can be operated by a novice, are among their remarkable features. The foundation principle consists in cutting minute indentations in a spiral line around the wax surface of a small cylinder, by means of a delicately adjusted cutting instrument, attached to a sensitive diaphragm, which is actuated by sound-waves, and afterward reproducing the same sounds by causing the cylinder to be revolved beneath a similar diaphragm, with a non-cutting needle point attached, which follows in and out of the indentations produced by the first cutting instrument, and thus sets in motion the same sound-waves. The wax cylinder or impression plate is less than six inches in length, and is held in place by suitable clamps.

The work of adjusting the recorder for registering is that of a moment, and the reproducer is as readily placed in position when it is sought to hear the registered sound. The cylinder is made to revolve either by a treadle moved by the foot, after the style of a sewing machine, or by a small electric motor, as may be desired, the latter having for its motive power a small bichromate or other ordinary electric battery. A rubber tube, with glass or vulcanite ear pieces to enable the listener more distinctly to hear, completes the apparatus. By means of a small horn or cone, the sound can be thrown out in a room or hall for greater enjoyment of an audience.

Practical uses of the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone.

While it is too early to foretell all the uses and necessities to which the perfected Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are destined to be applied, sufficient tests have already been made, in daily business use, to warrant the assertion that for all the purposes hereinafter enumerated the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are unqualifiedly practical and eminently desirable, and in making these statements there are not, as is too often the case with new inventions, any reservations or qualifications or any depending for their realization upon expected improvements. Upon the authority of thousands of disinterested users throughout the United States who have subjected the instruments to all varieties of tests and upon the certainty of operation which the machine itself demonstrates, these statements are made. As this pamphlet goes to press there are more than a hundred machines in use by Government Officials in Washington and the number is increasing daily, while the private subscription list in the same city is approaching the second hundred.

Utility for Ordinary Correspondence.

As a time and labor saver, what the sewing machine is to the needle, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are to the pen. Cylinders with messages recorded upon them, can be sent by mail, enclosed in light mailing cases, provided for that purpose, at ordinary postal rates. The percentage of persons to whom writing is a task of much labor is very large, and the percentage of persons who are unable properly to express their thoughts through the medium of writing, and yet who fluently express the minutest shades of their meaning by word of mouth is scarcely less. This is readily comprehended when one reflects that talking is natural—writing is artificial.

As a Stenographer.

Obviously one of the first uses of the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone is their use as a stenographer, for they present numerous superior features for that class of work. Leaving out of consideration the superiority, in absolute accuracy, which the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone necessarily possess, in reproducing the words spoken into them, persons having employment for stenographers will appreciate the advantage of having a "mechanical stenographer," which neither wants lunch hours nor holidays; which can work as easily in the dark as in the light; which is always at hand; which never interrupts the speaker nor loses a word; whose compensation is fixed once for all, and which never gets ill or weary. Any intelligent boy or girl can accurately transcribe the dictation by type-writer or pen.

Those who have heretofore been deprived of the services of a stenographer because of the attendant expense can now have an instrument which gives still more efficient service at a nominal outlay.

The most ignorant never hesitates to convey accurately his meaning when speaking face to face, while to write with accuracy and fluency requires previous training and education. Besides, even the most scholarly and rapid writer cannot write one-tenth as rapidly as he can talk.

The Voice as a Guide to the Meaning.

In addition to the advantages alluded to, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone by reproducing the exact tones of the speaker, enable the hearer more completely to understand the meaning. The pleasure at times derived from listening to the voice of an absent loved one, is denied in the cold characters of a letter.

As an Educator.

For educational purposes, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are destined to prove an important factor in many ways. As an aid in teaching vocal and instrumental music they are invaluable.

To teach correct pronunciation of either native or foreign languages, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are invaluable as a supplement to a teacher or book. A child makes known every want with a knowledge of only 500 words, and a grown person seldom uses more than 2,000 to 3,000 words.

These 2,000 to 3,000 words arranged in the form of a narrative, together with the translation—sentence by sentence—carefully and distinctly spoken by a native of any foreign country, can be placed on say four cylinders. These cylinders can be manufactured in any quantity and sold at a small cost to the public. Elocution, also, as far as modulation, tone, and other qualities of the voice are concerned, can be easily taught through the medium of the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone.

The Phonograph as a Trade-Bringer.

Quite a number of wide awake merchants and business men already appreciate the great value of the Phonograph as a trade-bringer, and rent instruments which they keep constantly on exhibition at their stores, rendering choice musical selections, and again from time to time shouting out, in stentorian tones the bargains of the day. It is hard to imagine anything more effective for this purpose; and the men who have machines state that they have greatly increased their business by this novel way of advertising. The throngs who come to see the instrument leave so much money for purchases that the slight cost of the machine and supplies cuts a small figure in the calculation.

A Boon for Commercial Travelers.

If a Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone were placed in every prominent hotel in the country, as doubtless will soon be the case, commercial travelers could more readily, more thoroughly and more accurately keep their principals at home apprised of their doings, and the details of the conditions and peculiarities of the territory through which they travel.

In many cases the writing of the daily letter is a source of greater concern to them than all the day's work.

Stored-up Music and Elocution.

As a source of instruction and entertainment, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are beginning to fill a large and profitable field.

For a small sum the possessor of a Phonograph or Phonograph-Graphophone is enabled to listen to songs by celebrated artists, as well as to the strains of the most distinguished European and American instrumentalists; and the recitations by renowned actors may thus be brought within the pecuniary reach of all. It can be readily appreciated how inestimable a benefit this application will be to the blind and the sick.

A Few of the Immediate Business Uses.

For lawyers and business men, at their homes or offices, it is a mechanical stenographer always at command. The cylinder, if the instrument be used at home, may be brought or forwarded to the user's office, and there transcribed by the type-writer.

Informal contracts may be perpetuated in the exact words and tones of the parties.

Instructions to employees may be given without their actual presence.

In doctors' offices, a patient calling during the physician's absence, may verbally express his wishes to the instrument, to be heard only by the doctor on his return. The confidential character of the patient's communication is thus preserved. In the sick room the physician can leave for the nurse explicit oral instructions, thereby obviating the danger in such cases of depending upon memory.

Verbal representations by would-be customers may be perpetuated for use in case of future disputes.

Poor writers and spellers are enabled to communicate by mail without the disclosure of their educational defects.

For authors, lawyers, playwrights and clergymen, and all others who have manuscripts to prepare, the instrument will prove a most valuable time saver, and they will readily be able to judge of the actual effect of their words upon their hearers.

In newspaper offices especially, the instrument is of great use. Most, if not all editorials and other matter may be dictated, and the cylinders used by the compositors without the necessity of reducing the subject to writing, and it is particularly valuable as a saver of time in the last hurried moments before the paper goes to press. Telegraph operators can send press and other dispatches direct from the dictation of the cylinder; no manuscript being required.

Actors and theatrical managers find it most advantageous in memorizing, and in all the details of rehearsals.

For use between an office and factory, or between a main and branch office, there is the "daily cylinder," into which the different heads of departments speak their wants, with greater particularity of detail than is possible through a letter correspondence, and such "daily cylinder" can be forwarded in the same manner as a letter.

All Post Offices will be supplied with these instruments, to enable persons to correspond—a reasonable toll being charged per phonogram. The receiver, if not possessing an instrument, may, by going to his Post Office or to the company's agencies, and paying a small fee, use their machine for translating the cylinder.

Railroad managers and superintendents will find the invention very useful to transmit and receive quick communications, when it is inconvenient to write, or time is limited. All orders to agents can be issued much more advantageously by phonograms than by the present system.

A beneficial field, by means of these instruments, is thrown open to the blind, enabling them to communicate readily with their distant friends.

Phonographs or Phonograph-Graphophones are leased at $40 per annum, but not sold, and blank cylinders, and cylinders with musical and other records upon them, are sold at a reasonable price.

Motors for Phonographs and Graphophones.

Although the treadle is a most satisfactory and effective means of running either instrument, this company is prepared to furnish, where desired, machines run by electric motors. The power for the motor comes either from the Edison incandescent current or from a storage battery. Motors and batteries are either rented or sold as the subscriber may prefer.

For the Home.

In the home circle, recipients of phonograms may enjoy the pleasure of listening to the voices of their absent correspondents.

Sayings of children and others may be perpetuated in the language and tones of the speakers.

Music, vocal and instrumental, is reproduced with marvellous accuracy.

The musical feature is already attracting a great deal of attention and giving most satisfactory entertainment at the homes of subscribers.

MUSICAL PHONOGRAMS.

The following is a list of the musical phonograms which can be had on order:

BRASS BAND.

1. The Song That Reached My Heart. 2. Daughter of Love. 3. Selection from Erminie. 4. Monastery Bells. 5. Selection from Mikado. 6. American Airs. 7. Killarney Waltz. 8. Society Yorke. 9. Sounds from Home Waltz. 10. Beggar Student. 11. Selection from Oolah. 12. Golden Hours. 13. The Night Alarm, Descriptive. 14. The Old Oaken Bucket. 15. Tube Rose Waltz. 16. Everybody's Darling.

PARLOR ORCHESTRA.

1. Birds of Spring, York. 2. Quadrille, Calling Out. 3. Little Gretto, Polka. 4. Selection from Erminie. 5. Selection from Mikado. 6. Selection from Oolah. 7. Selection from Brass Monkey. 8. Visions of Paradise Waltz. 9. In Rapture Sweet. 10. Nadjy Waltz. 11. Selection from Clover. 12. Heart's Delight, Gavotte. 13. Columbus. 14. New York at Night, March. 15. Mignon, York.

CORNET.

1. Culver Polka. 2. Il Trovatore. 3. Jamie Dear, Song. 4. Hartman's Favorite. 5. Anna Polka. 6. White Rose Waltz. 7. Dancing in the Barn. 8. Lover's Dreamland Waltz. 9. Sweet Sixteen Waltz. 10. Song That Reached My Heart. 11. Emily Polka. 12. Ave Maria. 13. Old Folks at Home, Song. 14. Gobble Gobble, Song from Mascot. 15. Casta Diva. 16. Little Fisher Maiden.

CLARINET.

1. Comin' Thro' the Rye. 2. Irene Waltz. 3. Selection from Oolah. 4. Greeting to Ems, March. 5. Idalia Waltz.

6. Sylvia, York. 7. The Brigands, Polka. 8. Hoboken Pioneers. 9. Down Went McGinty. 10. Dancing in the Barn. 11. Selection from Said Pasha. 12. Semper Fidelis. 13. Snap Galop. 14. Fortune Waltz, from Clover 15. Kentucky Jubilee.

FLUTE.

1. Warrior's Farewell. 2. Lucille, Gavotte. 3. Robin Adair, Variations. 4. The Queen of the Village, York. 5. Mountain Bells, Polk. 6. New Paris Waltz. 7. Air from Santanello. 8. Visions of Paradise Waltz. 9. German Ballad, with Variations. 10. Dream After the Ball.

PICCOLÓ.

1. Clover Leaf, Polka. 2. Irene Waltz. 3. Yankee Doodle and Variations. 4. Crescent City, York. 5. Air from Santanello. 6. Oriole, Polka. 7. Idalia Waltz. 8. Visions of Paradise Waltz. 9. Semper Fidelis, March. 10. Libiamo, Verdi.

VIOLIN.

1. Selection from Clover. 2. Kentucky Jubilee. 3. Down Went McGinty. 4. Dream After the Ball. 5. In Rapture Sweet Waltz. 6. Mignon, York. 7. Circus Rentz, Gavotte. 8. Lady Picking Mulberries, Song. 9. Patrol Comique, March. 10. Little Gretto, Polka.

PIANO DUETT.

1. Birds of Spring, York. 2. Visions of Paradise Waltz. 3. King John, March. 4. New Paris Waltz. 5. Always Gay, Galop. 6. Sweet Dreams Waltz.

VOCAL QUARTETTES.

Negro Melodies.

Popular Songs.

Vocal Solos with Harp and Banjo accompaniment.

Quite a number of other musical records are also kept in stock.

Musical Records From the Best Soloists of the Marine Band.

In addition to the music above set out this company has arranged with Mr. Henry Jæger, the celebrated flute and piccolo soloist of the Marine Band, to keep us constantly supplied with records of his best solos, which will undoubtedly prove a great attraction to subscribers.

WHAT SOME SUBSCRIBERS ARE DOING.

Most of the Phonographs and Graphophones in use in the territory of the Columbia Phonograph Company serve in the place of shorthand or longhand amanuenses, taking dictations of busy men. There are, however, a number of subscribers who are using, with great success, instruments for other purposes. Prof. Bischoff, the celebrated blind organist, uses a Phonograph to record piano melodies which he composes from time to time, having the melodies afterwards transcribed to paper from the machine by an amanuensis. Mr. O. P. Austin, journalist, has a printer's case on his Graphophone table, dictates his press dispatches, and the compositor sets type from the spoken words of the Graphophone. At the office of the Century Dictionary, a Phonograph is used to give examples of correct and incorrect pronunciation. At the Bull Run Panorama the Phonograph delivers lectures descriptive of the scenes there displayed. Hon. Curtis J. Hillyer uses in his family five Graphophones, solely for direct correspondence, the cylinders being sent by mail to and from the members of his family, who hear in each case the message in the voice of the speaker.

Members of Congress, who have large correspondence and who have to pay for clerk hire out of their own pockets, especially appreciate the machines as time and money savers. They can dictate as rapidly as they choose, when they choose, and utilize for the transcribing a very much less expensive class of help than would otherwise be the case, often enlisting members of their own families. Already this Company has on its list between twenty and thirty Senators and Members of the House of Representatives, and the number is increasing daily. As we go to press there are between fifty and sixty talking machines in Congressional use.

Graphophones are in constant use by the Reporters of Debates of the Senate and House of Representatives, who by this means are enabled to do their work with very much less clerical force than was previously required.

The following named appear among the subscribers of the Columbia Phonograph Company, which controls Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia:

IMPORTANT • IMPROVEMENTS.

Since the previous edition of this pamphlet was printed, improvements of great importance have been made, both on the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone, and are being placed upon all new instruments, while those in the hands of subscribers are being, at the expense of this Company, equipped with the latest devices.

The improvements to the Phonograph consist in taking away more than fifty parts, simplifying the instrument, making it automatic in adjustment, and easy to handle.

The improvements to the Graphophone consist principally in increase of sensitiveness, so that it is not necessary to use loud tones in dictation; indeed, a whisper may now be recorded and distinctly reproduced on either machine.

Phonographs and Phonograph-Graphophones.

Although some ten years have elapsed since Edison startled the world by inventing a machine that recorded sound and reproduced it at will, it is only within the past few months that this wonderful invention has been brought to such a degree of perfection as makes it of practical utility to the public at large. The original Phonograph, while valuable in demonstrating the possibilities of human invention, and as opening up a field of research in acoustics previously unexplored, lacked the elements essential for practical use. The metallic and sometimes indistinct sound-waves, that were emitted from the primitive tin-foil, the lack of proper incidental mechanical appliances, the want of a suitable material for the impression plate, and numerous other defects, made the invention useful principally in the laboratory of the scientist or in the museum of curiosities.

All these early defects have at last been overcome, and the perfected Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone, for the multitudinous purposes for which they can be used, are as practical as the typewriter or the telephone—in their respective spheres. By them the slightest shades and variations of the human voice are registered and reproduced with absolute accuracy. Music, whether vocal or instrumental, solo or multiple, in all its rhythm, melody and intonation, the lowest as well as the highest notes; in a word, all sounds of every kind and character may be treasured up in these extraordinary machines and reproduced—not once, but thousands of times, and may be mechanically duplicated and multiplied to any extent. The utility of the invention at this early day can scarcely be estimated. The uses of an instrument with such manifold functions would seem to be circumscribed only by the uses subserved by the property of sound itself.

HOW THE SOUND IS REGISTERED AND REPRODUCED.

The perfected Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone in size occupy less space than an ordinary typewriting machine and are much less complicated. Indeed, their simplicity and the readiness with which they can be operated by a novice are among their remarkable features.

The foundation principle consists in cutting minute indentations in a spiral line around the wax surface of a small cylinder by means of a delicately adjusted cutting instrument attached to a sensitive diaphragm, which is actuated by sound-waves, and afterward reproducing the same sounds by causing the cylinder to be revolved beneath a similar diaphragm, with a non-cutting needle-point attached, which follows in and out of the indentations produced by the first cutting instrument, and thus sets in motion the same sound-waves. The wax cylinder, or impression-plate is less than six inches in length and is held in place by suitable clamps.

The work of adjusting the recorder for registering is that of a moment; and the reproducer is as readily placed in position when it is sought to hear the registered sound. The cylinder is made to revolve either by a treadle moved by the foot, after the style of a sewing machine, or by a small electric motor, as may be desired, the latter having for its motive power a small storage or other ordinary electric battery. A rubber tube, with vulcanite ear pieces, to enable the listener to hear more distinctly, completes the apparatus. By means of a small horn or cone the sound can be thrown out in a room or hall, for the greater enjoyment of an audience.

PRACTICAL USES OF THE PHONOGRAPH AND PHONOGRAPH-GRAPHOPHONE.

While it is too early to foretell all the uses and necessities to which the perfected Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are destined to be applied, sufficient tests have already been made in daily business use to warrant the assertion that for all purposes hereinafter enumerated the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are unqualifiedly practical and eminently desirable; and in making these statements there are not, as is too often the case with new inventions, any reservation or qualifications, or any depending for their realization upon expected improvements.

Upon the authority of thousands of disinterested users throughout the United States who have subjected the instruments to all varieties of tests and upon the certainty of operation which the machine itself demonstrates, these statements are made.

As this pamphlet goes to press there are more than a hundred machines in use by Government officials in Washington, and the number is increasing daily, while the private subscription list (in same city) is approaching the third hundred.

UTILITY FOR ORDINARY CORRESPONDENCE.

As a time and labor-saver — what the sewing machine is to the needle — the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are to the pen.

Cylinders, with messages recorded upon them, can be sent by mail, enclosed in light mailing cases provided for that purpose, at ordinary postal rates.

The percentage of persons to whom writing is a task of much labor is very large; and the percentage of persons who are unable to properly express their thoughts through the medium of writing, and yet who fluently express the minutest shades of their meaning by word of mouth, is scarcely less. This is readily comprehended when one reflects that talking is natural; writing is artificial.

AS A STENOGRAPHER.

Obviously, one of the first uses of the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone is as a stenographer; for they present numerous superior features for that class of work.

Leaving out of consideration the superiority in absolute accuracy which the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone necessarily possess, in reproducing the words spoken into them, persons having employment for stenographers will appreciate the advantage of having a "mechanical stenographer," which neither wants lunch hours nor holidays; which can work as easily in the dark as in the light; which is always at hand; which never interrupts the speaker nor loses a word; whose compensation is fixed once for all, and which never gets ill or weary. Any intelligent boy or girl can accurately transcribe the dictation by type-writer or pen.

Those who have heretofore been deprived of the services of a stenographer because of the attendant expense can now have an instrument which gives still more efficient service at a nominal outlay.

The busy man, who does not wish to dictate with precision and fullness, can speak to the machine such general directions for answering letters or transacting business as he may care to give; and the record going to his clerk may be amplified and enlarged to any extent desired. In this way the principal can dispatch an immense amount of business in a very short time.

The most ignorant never hesitates to convey accurately his meaning when speaking face to face, while to write with accuracy and fluency requires previous training and education. Besides, even the most scholarly and rapid writer cannot write one-tenth as rapidly as he can talk.

THE VOICE AS A GUIDE TO THE MEANING.

In addition to the advantage alluded to, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone by reproducing the exact tones of the speaker, enable the hearer more completely to understand the meaning. The pleasure at times derived from listening to the voice of an absent loved one, is denied in the cold characters of a letter.

PORTABLE MACHINES.

The portable hand Graphophone, weighing much less than a type-writer, and being much more compact, is now ready for rental. This machine is a great convenience to travelers who wish to correspond by cylinder with home, business associates, or friends. The entire outfit necessary can be conveniently carried in one hand.

PUBLIC EXHIBITION FEATURE.

Although under the terms of the regular lease, subscribers are prohibited from exhibiting their machines for hire, this company makes a special contract with exhibitors, at a higher rate, whereby they are permitted to show the machine in any part of the territory for a fee. This is a pleasant and profitable means of earning a livelihood. Full particulars will be given on application to any of the company's offices.

THE AUTOMATIC EXHIBITION PHONOGRAPH.

Automatic Phonographs, to be set in motion by dropping a nickle in the slot, are now ready to be placed; and persons desiring to have them on their premises can make the necessary arrangements with the Columbia Phonograph Company, provided there is a fair chance of profit to the company. These instruments will prove a great attraction in hotels, depots, church fairs, and all places where many people congregate. Particulars, etc., can be had by addressing the company.

A REVOLUTION IN REPORTING.

The Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone have so greatly simplified reporting, that now it is only necessary in order to make a record of a speech, sermon, lecture, or court case, to have the words repeated by another person, in a low tone to the instrument, and afterwards transcribed to paper. At a convention recently held in Chicago, in which were present representatives from all the local Phonograph companies of the country, the entire proceedings were reported by being repeated in this way to talking machines, and accurately transcribed by type-writer operators from the record cylinders. By this method a person can qualify himself for a reporter in a short time; whereas, the labor of learning to report by shorthand is great and the chance of success is small even after much effort.

United States Commissioners, Notaries Public, Examiners in Chancery, and all who take depositions will do well to give attention to this feature.

AS AN EDUCATOR.

For educational purposes, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are destined to prove an important factor in many ways. As an aid in teaching vocal and instrumental music they are invaluable.

To teach correct pronunciation of either native or foreign languages, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are invaluable as a supplement to a teacher or book. A child makes known every want with a knowledge of only 500 words, and a grown person seldom uses more than 2,000 to 3,000 words.

These 2,000 to 3,000 words arranged in the form of a narrative, together with the translation—sentence by sentence—carefully and distinctly spoken by a native of any foreign country, can be placed on, say four cylinders. These cylinders can be manufactured in any quantity and sold at a small cost to the public. Elocution, also, as far as modulation, tone, and other qualities of the voice are concerned, can be easily taught through the medium of the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone.

THE PHONOGRAPH AS A TRADE-BRINGER.

Quite a number of wide-awake merchants and business men already appreciate the great value of the Phonograph as a trade-bringer, and rent instruments, which they keep constantly on exhibition in their stores, rendering choice musical selections, and again from time to time shouting out, in stentorian tones, the bargains of the day. It is hard to imagine anything more effective for this purpose; and the men who have machines state that they have greatly increased their business by this novel way of advertising. The throngs who come to see the instrument leave so much money for purchases that the slight cost of the machine and supplies cuts a small figure in the calculation.

A BOON FOR COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

If a Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone were placed in every prominent hotel in the country, as doubtless will soon be the case, commercial travelers could more readily, more thoroughly, and more accurately keep their principals at home apprised of their doings, and the details of the conditions and peculiarities of the territory through which they travel.

In many cases the writing of the daily letter is a source of greater concern to them than all the day's work.

STORED-UP MUSIC AND ELOCUTION.

As a source of instruction and entertainment, the Phonograph and Phonograph-Graphophone are beginning to fill a large and profitable field.

For a small sum the possessor of a Phonograph or Phonograph-Graphophone is enabled to listen to songs by celebrated artists, as well as to the strains of the most distinguished European and American instrumentalists; and the recitations by renowned actors may thus be brought within the pecuniary reach of all. It can be readily appreciated how inestimable a benefit this application will be to the blind and the sick or convalescent.

A FEW OF THE IMMEDIATE BUSINESS USES:

For lawyers and business men, at their homes or offices, it is a mechanical stenographer always at command. The cylinder, if the instrument be used at home, may be brought or forwarded to the user's office, and there transcribed by the type-writer.

Informal contracts may be perpetuated in the exact words and tones of the parties.

Instructions to employees may be given without their actual presence.

In doctor's offices, a patient calling during the physician's absence, may verbally express his wishes to the instrument, to be heard only by the doctor on his return. The confidential character of the patient's communication is thus preserved. In the sick room the physician can leave for the nurse explicit oral instructions, thereby obviating the danger in such cases of depending upon poor memory.

Poor writers and spellers are enabled to communicate by mail without the disclosure of their educational defects.

For authors, lawyers, playwrights, and clergymen, and all others who have manuscripts to prepare, the instrument will prove a most valuable time saver, and they will readily be able to judge of the actual effect of their words upon their hearers.

In newspaper offices especially, the instrument is of great use. Most, if not all editorials and other matter may be dictated, and the cylinders used by the compositors without the necessity of reducing the subject to writing, and it is particularly valuable as a saver of time in the last hurried moments before the paper goes to press. Telegraph operators can send press and other dispatches direct from the dictation of the cylinder; no manuscript being required.

Actors and theatrical managers find it most advantageous in memorizing, and in all the details of rehearsals.

For use between an office and factory, or between a main and branch office, there is the "daily cylinder," into which the different heads of departments speak their wants, with greater particularity of detail than is possible through a letter correspondence, and such "daily cylinder" can be forwarded in the same manner as a letter.

All Postoffices will be supplied with these instruments, to enable persons to correspond—a reasonable toll being charged per phonogram. The receiver, if not possessing an instrument, may, by going to his Postoffice or to the company's agencies, and paying a small fee, use their machine for translating the cylinder.

Railroad managers and superintendents will find the invention very useful to transmit and receive quick communications, when it is inconvenient to write, or time is limited. All orders to agents can be issued much more advantageously by phonograms than by the present system.

A beneficial field, by means of these instruments, is thrown open to the blind, enabling them to communicate readily with their distant friends.

Phonographs and Phonograph-Graphophones are leased, but not sold, and blank cylinders, and cylinders with musical and other records upon them, are sold at a reasonable price.

MOTORS FOR PHONOGRAPHS AND GRAPHOPHONES.

Although the treadle is a most satisfactory and effective means of running either instrument, this company is prepared to furnish, where desired, machines run by electric motors. The power for the motor comes either from the Edison incandescent current or from a storage battery. Motors and batteries are either rented or sold as the subscriber may prefer.

FOR THE HOME.

In the home circle, recipients of phonograms may enjoy the pleasure of listening to the voices of their absent correspondents.

Sayings of children and others may be perpetuated in the language and tones of the speakers.

Music, vocal, and instrumental, is reproduced with marvelous accuracy.

The musical feature is already attracting a great deal of attention and giving most satisfactory entertainment at the homes of subscribers.

This Company keeps constantly in stock fine musical cylinders, covering in multiple sound, military bands, orchestras, quartettes, etc., also solo work by cornets, flutes, pianos, and all leading musical instruments.

MUSICAL RECORDS FROM THE BEST SOLOISTS OF MARINE BAND.

This company has arranged with Mr. Henry Jaeger, the celebrated flute and piccolo soloist of the Marine Band, to keep us constantly supplied with records of his best solos, which will undoubtedly prove a great attraction to subscribers.

WHAT SOME SUBSCRIBERS ARE DOING.

Most of the Phonographs and Graphophones in use in the territory of the Columbia Phonograph Company serve in the place of shorthand or longhand amanuenses, taking the dictations of busy men. There are, however, a number of subscribers who are using, with great success, instruments for other purposes.

Prof. Bischoff, the celebrated blind organist, uses a Graphophone to record piano melodies which he composes from time to time, having the melodies afterwards transcribed to paper from the instrument by an amanuensis.

Mr. O. P. Austin, journalist, has a printer's case on his Graphophone table, dictates his press dispatches, and the compositor sets type from the spoken words of the Graphophone.

At the office of the Century Dictionary, a Phonograph is used to give examples of correct and incorrect pronunciation.

Hon. Curtis J. Hillyer uses in his family five Graphophones, solely for direct correspondence, the cylinders being sent by mail to and from the members of his family, who hear in each case the message in the voice of the speaker.

Members of Congress, who have large correspondence and who have to pay for clerk hire out of their own pockets, especially appreciate the machines as time and money savers. They can dictate as rapidly as they choose, when they choose, and utilize for the transcribing a very much less expensive class of help than would otherwise be the case, often enlisting members of their own families. Already this Company has on its list between forty and fifty Senators and Members of the House of Representatives, and the number is increasing daily. As we go to press there are between fifty and sixty talking machines in Congressional use.

Graphophones are in constant use by the Reporters of Debates of the Senate and House of Representatives, who by this means are enabled to do their work with very much less clerical force than was previously required.

Great Words from a Great Judge!

Read what the famous Gilmore says about

THE U. S. MARINE BAND.

NEW YORK, March 1, 1892.

MY DEAR SIR: I am frequently asked, as you now ask, my opinion of the Marine Band of Washington. Well, the band cannot help being a splendid band, for several reasons. First, its permanent location in Washington is a great inducement for first-class musicians to join the band, musicians who could not be induced to join the regular army, fearing that frontier life might be their fate. Second, the members of the Marine Band are obliged to attend a long rehearsal almost every day in the year, which alone is sufficient to make them play splendidly together.

With the beauty, the culture, and the brain of the nation at the Capital, the audiences—enough to inspire the men to bring forth the most charming effects of which the divine art of music is capable—is it not to be expected that the Band of Washington should stand peerless and unrivalled on the American Continent? Go, then, and see them play when you have an opportunity, and you will doubtless be convinced that the Government is well advised in its policy. I feel, justly proud of the U. S. MARINE BAND.

S. GILMORE.

THE U. S. MARINE BAND.

Gilmore's High Compliment to this Splendid Musical Organization.

The following letter from Mr. P. S. Gilmore is in reply to one received from the chairman of a committee of prominent business men of St. Louis interested in the concerts soon to be given in that city by the United States Marine Band:

NEW YORK, March 1, 1892.

MY DEAR SIR: I am frequently asked, as you now ask, my opinion of the Marine Band of Washington. Well, the band cannot help being a splendid band, for three reasons. First, its permanent location in Washington is a great inducement for first-class musicians to join the band, musicians who could not be induced to join the regular army, fearing that frontier life might be their fate. Second, the members of the Marine Band are obliged to attend a long rehearsal almost every day in the year, which alone is sufficient to make them play splendidly together. Third, they are under a director, Mr. John Philip Sousa, who is a most accomplished musician, whose own compositions, as also his admirable arrangements of other composers' works, give abundant evidence of his genius, originality, and artistic ability.

With such a leader, whose aim is perfection, and with the beauty, the culture, and the brain of the nation at the Capital for his audiences—enough to inspire both him and his men to bring forth the most charming effects of which the divine art of music is capable—is it not to be expected that the Marine Band of Washington should stand peerless and unrivaled on the American continent? Go, then, and hear them play when you have an opportunity, and you will doubtless be convinced that Uncle Sam has a band of which the Government and the people ought to feel, and do feel, justly proud.

Very sincerely yours,

P. S. GILMORE.

THOMAS A. EDISON,

*Inventor of the Phonograph or "Ideal
Stenographer."*

IMPORTANT!

We desire to remind those who have automatic or exhibition phonographs that in order to make money and keep up the earnings of their machines, they must continue to use only good, loud and attractive records.

All records listed in this catalogue are first class, unequalled for brilliancy, clearness and general excellence.

We keep constantly in stock a large variety of choice records of which we can make no catalogue, the list being changed from week to week. We bring eminent artists here from New York, Boston, Chicago and other cities at great expense, for the express purpose of making records of their specialties. We also draw regularly upon the theatres here for the best songs of the vocalists, serious and comic, visiting Washington. We will be pleased to fill orders for miscellaneous records from the material on hand from time to time, making selections according to our own judgment.

In ordering please state clearly whether you desire records for horn reproduction, slot machine or multiple tubes.

To guard against errors, always give name and number of selection, as well as class of record.

To facilitate prompt filling of orders, customers are requested to give us the privilege of substituting another record for any specific selection which at the time may not be in stock. Unless otherwise instructed we will exercise this liberty.

Unless cash accompanies order, goods will be sent C. O. D.

Attention is specially called to directions given at close of this catalogue, for the care and successful operation of the phonograph.

This Company now offers the following records, carefully selected for loudness and clearness.

Directions for Proper Handling and Care of the Phonograph.

The Phonograph requires oiling every day or two, but the quantity of oil used should be very slight. Wiping the back rod (on which the diaphragm arm travels) with an oily cloth will be sufficient to remove the dust and particles of grit which accumulate there.

The different centers on which the phonograph runs should be oiled at the same time with a drop or two of oil.

Never allow oil to drop upon the motor or governor belts. If they become saturated with oil they will slip, and the result will be a discord in your record. These belts should be renewed every month or two; the expense is trifling.

The small oil hole at the back of the machine, with cup, is for sending oil to the bottom of the armature or motor. A few drops once a month will be sufficient for this.

If your Phonograph starts slowly instead of responding quickly to the current, it usually indicates a dirty condition of the commutator or top of the motor where the copper brushes rest. The Phonograph should be lifted up out of its box or case and the arm to which the brushes are attached unscrewed and pulled out on its center, exposing the brushes to view. With a soft piece of cheese cloth saturated with benzine, carefully wipe the oil and other dark-colored accretions from the points of the brushes. Then with a small flat file gently rub the points of the brushes until they are bright and clean, and replace them again. The brushes should rest firmly (but not too tightly) against the commutator, to prevent the sparking of the current.

The governor brushes should be cleaned in the same way. This can be done by unscrewing the governor center screw, removing the governor, and then the brushes can be easily reached.

The fine feed screw which carries forward the nickel plated flat arm should be wiped with a cloth saturated with benzine every week or so, and then oiled with a drop or two of oil; the twin nuts which feed into this screw should also be cleaned and oiled in the same manner.

The brass mandrel should be kept bright and clear by wiping it weekly with benzine and polishing it with a chamois skin. If small particles of wax are allowed to adhere to and remain upon its surface, it will give an uneven reproduction of the record, besides being liable to crack the cylinder.

If the wax cylinder adheres to the brass mandrel and will not slip off by ordinary pressure, it can be removed by placing a piece of soft tissue paper on the surface of the cylinder, allowing the hand to rest lightly upon the paper, and the warmth of the hand will soon loosen the cylinder, and it will then slip off without injury.

Never try to force a cylinder off the mandrel by pounding or knocking it. If you do it will surely be cracked and ruined.

The wonderful reproductions given by the Phonograph are accomplished through the glass diaphragm, to which is attached, on the under side, a round sapphire point or reproducer. This round glass ball follows in the track of the prepared record and agitates the glass diaphragm, thus reproducing the sounds recorded upon the cylinder.

This reproducing point, or stylus, should be kept free from wax or dust by occasionally brushing it gently with a camel's hair brush.

The wax cylinder should be handled gently at first, until the operator becomes practiced. Thrust the first and second fingers of the right hand into thick end of cylinder and hold fast by spreading these fingers apart. The outside surface should not be touched with the hand in any way. Finger-marks left upon the surface impair the record, and any indentations or scratching of the surface cause obstructing sounds, which spoil the clear reproduction.

When not in use, musical and other records should be carefully wrapped in cotton wadding and replaced in the small pasteboard boxes in which they were received; or, what is better, they should be placed in a cylinder box made for the purpose, to prevent injury, and kept under lock and key to prevent possible tampering by unauthorized persons.

Wooden boxes, with posts made to hold twelve or twenty records each, can be obtained of this Company.

Never send cylinders through the mails, as the rough handling they receive in transit almost always results in their being broken before delivery. They should be wrapped in cotton wadding and excelsior, packed in a wooden box, and sent by express.

AMERICAN CONTINENT."

Great Words from a Great Judge!

Read what the famous Gilmore says about

THE U. S. MARINE BAND.

*Gilmore's High Compliment to this

The following letter from Mr. P. S. Gilmore is in reply to one received from the chairman of a committee of prominent business men of St. Louis interested in the concerts soon to be given in that city by the United States Marine Band;

NEW YORK, March 1, 1892.

MY DEAR SIR: I am frequently asked, as you now ask, my opinion of the Marine Band of Washington. Well, the band cannot help being a splendid band, for three reasons. First, its permanent location in Washington is a great inducement for first-class musicians to join the band, musicians who could not be induced to join the regular army, fearing that frontier life might be their fate. Second, the members of the Marine Band are obliged to attend a long rehearsal almost every day in the year, which alone is sufficient to make them play splendidly together. Third, they are under a director, Mr. John Philip Sousa, who is a most accomplished musician, whose own compositions, as also his admirable arrangements of other composers' works, give abundant evidence of his genius, originality, and artistic ability.

With such a leader, whose aim is perfection, and with the beauty, the culture, and the brain of the nation at the Capital for his audiences—enough to inspire both him and his men to bring forth the most charming effects of which the divine art of music is capable—is it not to be expected that the Marine Band of Washington should stand peerless and unrivaled on the American continent? Go, then, and hear them play when you have an opportunity, and you will doubtless be convinced that Uncle Sam has a band of which the Government and the people ought to feel, and do feel, justly proud.

Very sincerely yours,

P. S. GILMORE.

This Company now offers the following records, carefully selected for loudness and clearness.

"PEERLESS and UNRIVALED on the AMERICAN CONTINENT."

Great Words from a Great Judge!

Read what the famous Gilmore says about

THE U. S. MARINE BAND.

Gilmore's High Compliment to this Splendid Musical Organization.

The following extract from a letter from Mr. P. S. Gilmore is in reply to one received from the chairman of a committee of prominent business men of St. Louis interested in the concerts given in that city by the United States Marine Band:

NEW YORK, March 1, 1892.

MY DEAR SIR: I am frequently asked, as you now ask, my opinion of the Marine Band of Washington. Well, the band cannot help being a splendid band, for several reasons. First, its permanent location in Washington is a great inducement for first-class musicians to join the band, musicians who could not be induced to join the regular army, fearing that frontier life might be their fate. Second, the members of the Marine Band are obliged to attend a long rehearsal almost every day in the year, which alone is sufficient to make them play splendidly together.

With the beauty, the culture, and the brain of the nation at the Capital for audiences—enough to inspire the men to bring forth the most charming effects of which the divine art of music is capable—is it not to be expected that the Marine Band of Washington, should stand peerless and unrivalled on the American continent? Go, then, and hear them play when you have an opportunity, and you will doubtless be convinced that Uncle Sam has a band of which the Government and the people ought to feel, and do feel, justly proud.

Very sincerely yours, P. S. GILMORE.

This Company now offers the following records, carefully selected for loudness and clearness.

Directions for Proper Use and Care of the Phonograph

The Phonograph requires oiling, or two, but the quantity of oil used should be very slight. Wiping the back of the diaphragm arm travels, which the diaphragm arm travels, with a cloth will be sufficient to remove the particles of grit which accumulate there. The different centers on which the phonograph runs should be oiled at the same time with a drop or two of oil.

Never allow oil to drop upon the governor belts. If they become soiled with oil they will slip, and the result will be a discord in your record. These belts should be renewed every month or two; the expense is trifling.

The small oil hole at the back of the machine, with cup, is for sending oil to the bottom of the armature or motor. A few drops once a month will be sufficient for this.

If your Phonograph starts slowly and does not respond quickly to the current, it usually indicates a dirty condition of the commutator or top of the motor where the brushes rest. The Phonograph should be lifted up out of its box or case and the top to which the brushes are attached unscrewed and pulled out on its center, exposing the brushes to view. With a soft piece of cloth saturated with benzine, carefully clean the oil and other dark-colored accumulations from the points of the brushes. Then with a small flat file gently rub the points of the brushes until they are bright and clean. Replace them again. The brushes should be held firmly (but not too tightly) against the commutator, to prevent the sparking of the motor.

Great Words from a Great Judge!

Read what the famous Gilmore says about

THE U. S. MARINE BAND.

Gilmore's High Compliment to this Splendid Musical Organization.

The following extract from a letter from Mr. P. S. Gilmore is in reply to one received from the chairman of a committee of prominent business men of St. Louis interested in the concerts given in that city by the United States Marine Band:

NEW YORK, March 1, 1892.

MY DEAR SIR: I am frequently asked, as you now ask, my opinion of the Marine Band of Washington. Well, the band cannot help being a splendid band, for several reasons. First, its permanent location in Washington is a great inducement for first-class musicians to join the band, musicians who could not be induced to join the regular army, fearing that frontier life might be their fate. Second, the members of the Marine Band are obliged to attend a long rehearsal almost every day in the year, which alone is sufficient to make them play splendidly together.

With the beauty, the culture, and the brain of the nation at the Capital for audiences—enough to inspire the men to bring forth the most charming effects of which the divine art of music is capable—is it not to be expected that the Marine Band of Washington, should stand peerless and unrivaled on the American continent? Go, then, and hear them play when you have an opportunity, and you will doubtless be convinced that Uncle Sam has a band of which the Government and the people ought to feel, and do feel, justly proud.

Very sincerely yours,

P. S. GILMORE.

This Company now offers the following records, carefully selected for loudness and clearness.

Humorous Talking Records.

We keep constantly on hand a full stock of the celebrated

PAT BRADY RECORDS.

These records are very carefully taken, are clear and loud, so that every word can be distinctly understood by the hearer. The following is a synopsis of the subject:

1. Pat Brady as a Police-Justice. Having been elected to office, he administers the law in a very novel manner, and renders some very original decisions.

2. Pat Brady on a Spree. An important event having taken place in his household, he celebrates it in a noisy way with his friends. (Chorus.)

3. Pat Brady in the Patrol Wagon. Having come home at an unreasonable hour, he becomes demonstrative, quarrels with his landlord, and the patrol-wagon takes the party away. (Chorus.)

4. Pat Brady before the Election. He addresses his followers, and makes them extravagant promises if they will elect him to office. (Chorus.)

5. Pat Brady after the Election. He explains how it was that he beat Murphy "by a small majority." (Chorus.)

6. Pat Brady and the Doctor. Brady sends for a physician, asks some strange questions, and receives some good advice.

7. Pat Brady in the Police-Court. He meets a friend on the street, an altercation takes place, and he explains the causes to the judge.

8. Pat Brady and the World's Fair. He gives his opinion as to what countries should send representatives to Chicago and who should stay away. (Chorus.)

9. Pat Brady as President. He states what his policy would be towards the Indians, and other reforms he would make if he was elected President.

10. Paddy's Wedding. Pat Brady tells a funny Irish story about Dr. Finn, and concludes with an Irish song.

11. Pat Brady and Wife in Court. He seeks a divorce from his wife, and tells the story of his domestic troubles.

12. St. Patrick's Day Speech. He addresses his countrymen on St. Patrick's Day, gives them some original English history, and makes some predictions. (Chorus.)

We also carry in stock, the celebrated

CASEY SERIES,

of Irish dialogue records, which, in addition to the excellent brogue, introduce many novel effects such as the sound of horses feet, railroad trains, steamboats, etc.

The list includes the following subjects:

1. Casey and the Dudo. Meeting a dudo on a street car, Casey indulges in some fun at the dudo's expense.

2. Casey's Plan for Erooing Ireland. As representative of the I. O. O. I. I., Casey explains to his hearers the plans of that mysterious society.

3. Casey Exhibiting his Panorama. While visiting Dublin, he entertains an audience with his panorama and gives some interesting information about Niagara Falls, etc.

4. Casey's First Experience as a Doctor. He asks some peculiar questions regarding his patient's symptoms and gives him some valuable advice.

5. Casey at a Party. While enjoying Mrs. O'Hulegan's hospitality, Casey and his friends exchange jokes and partake of refreshment.

6. Listening to a Hand-Organ. After admiring the intelligence of the monkey, Casey favors his friends with a song, with hand-organ accompaniment.

7. En Route to Washington. Before leaving for Washington as representative in Congress, Casey tells his constituents what he intends to say to the President.

8. Departing by Steamboat. Casey and his friends leave New York by steamer, and find some strange things to talk about.

9. Casey at the Telophone. He calls up his friend Murphy and learns of a happy event in the latter's household.

10. Casey as Judge. He learns something about legal terms and disposes of some serious cases.

11. Casey as Chairman of the Mugwump Club. He presides at a meeting called for the purpose of deciding on the kind of torches to be carried in a parade.

12. Casey and his Gang of Laborers. In which Mickey McGlan objects to certain duties and suffers serious injuries in consequence.

"PEERLESS and UNRIVALLED on the AMERICAN CONTINENT."

Great Words from a Great Judge!

Read what the famous Gilmore says about
THE U. S. MARINE BAND.

Gilmore's High Compliment to this Splendid Musical Organization.

The following extract from a letter from Mr. P. S. Gilmore is in reply to one received from the chairman of a committee of prominent business men of St. Louis interested in the concerts given in that city by the United States Marine Band:

NEW YORK, March 1, 1892.

MY DEAR SIR: I am frequently asked, as you now ask, my opinion of the Marine Band of Washington. Well, the band cannot help being a splendid band, for several reasons. First, its permanent location in Washington is a great inducement for first-class musicians to join the band, musicians who could not be induced to join the regular army, fearing that frontier life might be their fate. Second, the members of the Marine Band are obliged to attend a long rehearsal almost every day in the year, which alone is sufficient to make them play splendidly together.

With the beauty, the culture, and the brain of the nation at the Capital for audiences—enough to inspire the men to bring forth the most charming effects of which the divine art of music is capable—is it not to be expected that the Marine Band of Washington, should stand peerless and unrivalled on the American continent? Go, then, and hear them play when you have an opportunity, and you will doubtless be convinced that Uncle Sam has a band of which the Government and the people ought to feel, and do feel, justly proud.

Very sincerely yours,

P. S. GILMORE.

THOMAS A. EDISON,
*Inventor of the Phonograph. or "Ideal
Stenographer."*

IMPORTANT!

We desire to remind those who have automatic or exhibition phonographs that in order to make money and keep up the earnings of their machines, they must continue to use only good, loud and attractive records.

All records listed in this catalogue are first class, unequalled for brilliancy, clearness and general excellence.

We keep constantly in stock a large variety of choice records of which we can make no catalogue, the list being changed from week to week. We bring eminent artists here from New York, Boston, Chicago and other cities at great expense, for the express purpose of making records of their specialties. We also draw regularly upon the theatres here for the best songs of the vocalists, serious and comic, visiting Washington. We will be pleased to fill orders for miscellaneous records from the material on hand from time to time, making selections according to our own judgment.

In ordering please state clearly whether you desire records for horn reproduction, slot machine or multiple tubes.

To guard against errors, always give name and number of selection, as well as class of record.

To facilitate prompt filling of orders, customers are requested to give us the privilege of substituting another record for any specific selection which at the time may not be in stock. Unless otherwise instructed we will exercise this liberty.

Unless cash accompanies order, goods will be sent C. O. D.

Attention is specially called to directions given at close of this catalogue, for the care and successful operation of the phonograph.

This company makes a specialty of HIGH CLASS, ORIGINAL RECORDS, carefully selected for loudness and clearness.

 ↔ U. S. MARINE BAND. ↔

The United States Marine Band is the most famous musical organization on the western hemisphere. It is the official band of the President of the United States, and plays for the President at the White House on all state occasions; and at Inaugural Balls. The great Gilmore said of this band, "It stands peerless and unrivaled on the American continent."

NOTE.—Phonograph records are made exclusively for this company. All high class originals; no duplicates made or sold.

VOCAL AND PIANO.

By George H. Diamond.

We have obtained, at considerable expense, the services of the well known vocalist, Mr. George H. Diamond, whose songs are so highly appreciated by users of the Phonograph throughout the country. The words are clear and distinct, the piano accompaniment well rendered and nicely balanced, and the records are unsurpassed. Owing to the limited number of each selection, we would suggest that customers, in ordering, name several additional records as second choice, as we may be obliged to substitute when the stock becomes small.

PAT BRADY'S

Humorous Talking Records,

FOR THE PHONOGRAPH.

These records are very carefully taken, so that every word can be distinctly understood by the hearer, and never fail to largely increase the revenues of the machines upon which they are used. "The Phonogram" speaking of them, says: "The great charm to these Pat Brady records is their naturalness of tone. The Irishmen that talk are real Irishmen, with the rich brogue and their Celtic way of saying things, and not an imitation of the genuine article."

The following is a synopsis of the subjects:

1. Pat Brady as a Police Justice. Having been elected to office, he administers the law in a novel manner, and renders some very original decisions.
2. Pat Brady on a Spree. An important event having taken place in his household, he celebrates it in a noisy way with his friends. (Chorus.)
3. Pat Brady in the Patrol Wagon. Having come home at an unseasonable hour, he becomes demonstrative, quarrels with his landlord, and the patrol wagon takes the party away. (Chorus.)
4. Pat Brady before the Election. He addresses his followers, and makes them extravagant promises if they will elect him to office. (Chorus.)
5. Pat Brady after the Election. He explains how it was that he beat Murphy "by a small majority". (Chorus.)
6. Pat Brady and the Doctor. Brady sends for a physician, asks some strange questions, and receives some good advice.
7. Pat Brady in the Police Court. He meets a friend on the street, an altercation takes place, and he explains the causes to the judge.
8. Pat Brady and the World's Fair at Chicago. He gives his opinion as to what countries should send representatives to Chicago and who should stay away. (Chorus.)
9. Pat Brady as President. He states what his policy would be towards the Indians, and other reforms he would make if he were elected President. (Chorus.)
10. Paddy's Wedding. Pat Brady tells a funny Irish story about McGuffin, and concludes with an Irish song.

11. Pat Brady and Wife in Court. He seeks a divorce from his wife, and tells the story of his domestic troubles in a very amusing way.
12. Pat Brady's St. Patrick's Day Speech. He addresses his countrymen on St. Patrick's Day, gives them some original English history, and makes some predictions. (Chorus.)

HUMOROUS RECORDS
BY MR. RUSSELL HUNTING.

THE CELEBRATED
"Michael Casey" Series,

We have obtained the services of Mr. Hunting, who is now making these popular records expressly for us.
These cylinders have been on the market for over a year, and have received a most critical trial by users of the phonograph in almost every State in the Union and are recognized to be the loudest and clearest records of the kind on the market.

The records are recorded and tested personally by Mr. Hunting; are made singly; built on the long cylinders, and are very loud and clear.

1. Michael Casey and a Dude in a Street Car. Introducing five characters. A scene between the Conductor, Mr. Murphy, Casey, two dudes, etc. Bell punch introduced.
2. Michael Casey's Plans for Freeing Ireland. Casey as a representative of the I. O. O. I. I. (Independent Order of Invincible Irishmen,) makes a thrilling speech, giving his plans for freeing Ireland. Cheered by an enthusiastic audience.
3. Michael Casey Exhibiting his Panorama in Dublin, Ireland. Casey lectures on Niagara Falls, and Daniel in the Lion's Den. Remarks of people in the audience, etc. Music at intervals.
4. Michael Casey as a Physician. Introducing three characters. Reproduction of bell ringing, opening door, Casey coming down stairs, etc. Dr. Casey offers some startling prescriptions.
5. Michael Casey at Mrs. O'Houlegan's Birthday Party. Mr. Casey has a number of new jokes which he gives to the guests, evoking great laughter and applause.
6. Michael Casey Listening to an Italian Playing a Hand Organ in the Street. Scene between Casey, Mr. Wilkins, Mr. Murphy, an Italian, a policeman and a number of spectators. Music by the hand organ. Chattering of the monkey.
7. Michael Casey Departing from Boston en route to Washington. Scene in a railway station. Mr. Casey arrives on horse-back. Introducing reproduction of the horse galloping on the pavements. A great crowd cheers Mr. Casey as he is boarding the train. Exact representation of the train leaving the station.

8. Michael Casey Departing from New York en route to Boston, by Steamboat. Scene on the wharf. Reproduction of steamboat leaving the wharf, pulling in the plank, whistles, bells, etc. Incidents on board the steamer.

9. Michael Casey at the Telephone. Mr. Casey's first experience in using the telephone. He gets into an amusing dispute with a number of people whom he thinks are talking to him. An extremely humorous record.

10. Michael Casey as Judge in the Criminal Court. Mr. Casey's first trial. A very amusing scene between Mr. Casey and the opposing lawyer in the case before the Court. Introducing a number of characters.

11. Michael Casey as Chairman of the Mugwump Club. Mr. Casey hears arguments in reference to the kind and color of torches which the club are to carry in the great torch-light procession in honor of their presidential candidate. Introduces eight or nine characters, including a person who stutters.

12. Michael Casey and his gang of Irish laborers at work on a Building. Reproduction of the sound of laying bricks, hammering, sawing boards, etc. McGinty's rival, Micky McGinn, falls from the tenth story. A great accident.

13. Casey's Political Speech. Mr. Casey speaks before a very enthusiastic audience, and says that he is in favor of free trade, civil service, tariff reform. What he would do if he were elected.

14. Casey as Mayor. Scene between Mr. Casey, his clerk and a politician. Mr. Casey insists upon his clerk writing to Mr. McKinley Bill at Washington, Del.

15. Michael Casey as Alderman. Casey states his views in reference to importing the Venetian Gondolas which he calls "Gondolyers."

16. Michael Casey in Court. Mr. Casey appears as plaintiff, and asks for damages for injuries received from Dennis Riley. Introducing a rough and tumble fight, which is very humorous.

17. Casey's Fight. Mr. Casey relates, almost out of breath, how he whipped Oney Goeghan. "I pulled him down on top of me and put my face against his fist."

18. Casey Playing the Piano at Mrs. Fitzgerald's Party. Casey plays by request, and is enthusiastically applauded by the guests.

19. Casey at the Bat. A humorous poem as recited with great success by DeWolfe Hopper.

20. Casey Serenading his Girl. Mr. Casey serenades his love with a very poor sounding violin. Tries to climb up to her window on the water-spout, but falls. Is arrested by a policeman, who thinks he is a burglar.

21. Casey Playing Cards. Casey playing poker with Mr. Murphy. He becomes very angry because he cannot win the game, as he thinks he should, by holding big and little casino in the game of poker. Spectators laugh heartily.

22. Casey's Great Medical Discovery. Mr. Casey's thrilling speech to an enthusiastic audience in reference to his great medicine, which he terms "Casey's Disease Destroyer." He reads some great testimonials which he has from parties who have used his great medicine. Very humorous.

23. Casey's Description of how Christopher Columbus Discovered America. Casey says his father was intimately acquainted with Christopher Columbus' father; therefore, he is enabled to give a positively truthful description of how Christopher Columbus did discover America. Very amusing.

24. Michael Casey Taking the Census. Mr. Casey calls at Mrs. Sullivan's and meets with a number of incumbrances. Disputes with Mrs. Sullivan as to her age.

25. Casey as an Insurance Agent. Mr. Casey obtains some interesting facts from a prospective customer, and advises him not to leave any poisons where his wife may find them.

Directions for Proper Handling and Care of the Phonograph.

The Phonograph requires oiling every day or two, but the quantity of oil used should be very slight. Wiping the back rod (on which the diaphragm arm travels) with an oily cloth will be sufficient to remove the dust and particles of grit which accumulate there.

The different centers on which the phonograph runs should be oiled at the same time with a drop or two of oil.

Never allow oil to drop upon the motor or governor belts. If they become saturated with oil they will slip, and the result will be a discord in your record. These belts should be renewed every month or two; the expense is trifling.

The small oil hole at the back of the machine, with cup, is for sending oil to the bottom of the armature or motor. A few drops once a month will be sufficient for this.

If your Phonograph starts slowly instead of responding quickly to the current, it usually indicates a dirty condition of the commutator or top of the motor where the copper brushes rest. The Phonograph should be lifted up out of its box or case and the arm to which the brushes are attached unscrewed and pulled out on its center, exposing the brushes to view. With a soft piece of cheese cloth saturated with benzine, carefully wipe the oil and other dark-colored accretions from the points of the brushes. Then with a small flat file gently rub the points of the brushes until they are bright and clean, and replace them again. The brushes should rest firmly (but not too tightly) against the commutator, to prevent the sparking of the current.

The governor brushes should be cleaned in the same way. This can be done by unscrewing the governor center screw, removing the governor, and then the brushes can be easily reached.

The fine feed screw which carries forward the nickel-plated flat arm should be wiped with a cloth saturated with benzine every week or so, and then oiled with a drop or two of oil; the twin nuts which feed into this screw should also be cleaned and oiled in the same manner.

The brass mandrel should be kept bright and clear by wiping it weekly with benzine and polishing it with a chamois skin. If small particles of wax are allowed to adhere to and remain upon its surface, it will give an uneven reproduction of the record, besides being liable to crack the cylinder.

If the wax cylinder adheres to the brass mandrel and will not slip off by ordinary pressure, it can be removed by placing a piece of soft tissue paper on the surface of the cylinder, allowing the hand to rest lightly upon the paper, and the warmth of the hand will soon loosen the cylinder, and it will then slip off without injury.

Never try to force a cylinder off the mandrel by pounding or knocking it. If you do it will surely be cracked and ruined.

The wonderful reproductions given by the Phonograph are accomplished through the glass diaphragm, to which is attached, on the under side, a round sapphire point or reproducer. This round glass ball follows in the track of the prepared record and agitates the glass diaphragm, thus reproducing the sounds recorded upon the cylinder.

This reproducing point, or stylus, should be kept free from wax or dust by occasionally brushing it gently with a camel's hair brush.

The wax cylinder should be handled gently at first, until the operator becomes practiced. Thrust the first and second fingers of the right hand into thick end of cylinder and hold fast by spreading these fingers apart. The outside surface should not be touched with the hand in any way. Finger-marks left upon the surface impair the record, and any indentations or scratching of the surface cause obstructing sounds, which spoil the clear reproduction.

When not in use, musical and other records should be carefully wrapped in cotton wadding and replaced in the small pasteboard boxes in which they were received; or, what is better, they should be placed in a cylinder box made for the purpose, to prevent injury, and kept under lock and key to prevent possible tampering by unauthorized persons.

Wooden boxes, with posts made to hold twelve or twenty records each, can be obtained of this Company.

Never send cylinders through the mails, as the rough handling they receive in transit almost always results in their being broken before delivery. They should be wrapped in cotton wadding and excelsior, packed in a wooden box, and sent by express.

NOTICE!

Records which are worn out by frequent use, and which are no longer musical and attractive to listeners, can be sent to us by express, carefully wrapped in cotton wadding and excelsior, and packed in a wooden box, and we will make an allowance for them as blanks, provided they are long cylinders and not cracked or chipped. If cracked or chipped they cannot be used by us again as blanks for recording, and are wholly worthless.

Songs by Fred. Roberts.

(Piano Accompaniment)

Mr. Roberts is well known throughout the country as a singing comedian. He is now travelling with Gus Hill's famous company, and as his records are not easily obtained, we have laid in a large stock. The selections are all of a popular character, and their rendition in Mr. Roberts' inimitable style, makes them very attractive records. Every user of the phonograph should have one as a permanent part of his collection.

- 1 Parody on Two Little Girls in Blue.
- 2 One of His Legs is Longer Than it Really Ought to Be.
- 3 Smithsonian Park.
- 4 Do, Do, My Huckleberry, Do.
- 5 In a Very Different Place.
- 6 Pong, Pinka, Pong (Banjo Song).
- 7 I Picked it Up.
- 8 The Cat Came Back.
- 9 Little Johnnie Dugan (with chorus). This song is having a great run in New York and other eastern cities.
- 10 Uncle Charlie.
- 11 The Girl I Left Behind.
- 12 Daisy Bell.

Dear Sir:--

This Company has at last succeeded in obtaining first class records of the female voice. MISS JESSIE OLIVER IS THE FIRST songstress whose work is both musically and phonographically satisfactory. Many others have tried but none have been sufficiently successful to continue. Miss Ollivier gives a clear, loud record, without sacrificing any of the purity of the music or destroying the quality of the voice. The selections are the melodies which never grow old and are always in demand. The Standard Quartette have assisted in the chorus of some of the old-fashioned melodies, making a novelty which charms all hearers. The supply is limited, and reserved wholly for our retail trade.

The selections are as follows:

WAY DOWN UPON THE SUWANEE RIVER;

MY OWN KENTUCKY HOME;

HOME SWEET HOME;

ANNIE LAURIE;

LOVE'S OLD SWEET SONG;

IMPORTANT.

We desire to remind those who have Automatic or Exhibition Phonographs or Gramophones that in order to make money and keep up the earnings of their machines, they must continue to use only good, loud and attractive records.

All records listed in this catalogue are first class, unequalled for brilliancy, clearness and general excellence.

We keep constantly in stock a large variety of choice records of which we can make no catalogue, the list being changed from week to week. We bring eminent artists here from New York, Boston, Chicago and other cities at great expense, for the express purpose of making records of their specialties. We also draw regularly upon the theatres here for the best songs of the vocalists, serious and comic, visiting Washington. We will be pleased to fill orders for miscellaneous records from the material on hand from time to time, making selections according to our own judgment.

In ordering please state clearly whether you desire records for horn reproduction, slot machine or multiple tubes.

To guard against errors, always give name and number of selection, as well as class of record.

To facilitate prompt filling of orders, customers are requested to give us the privilege of substituting another record for any specific selection which at the time may not be in stock. Unless otherwise instructed we will exercise this liberty.

Unless cash accompanies order, goods will be sent C. O. D. Return express charges can be added by remitting with your order.

World's Fair.

This Tells the Story!

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 27, '98.

Columbia Phonograph Co.,

Washington, D. C.

GENTLEMEN:

Enclosed find check to balance our account.

Your Records have given pleasure to thousands at the World's Fair where we have used your Marine Bands almost exclusively.

Yours very truly,

Chicago Central Phonograph Co.,

LEON F. DOUGLASS,

Vice President.

April 1899

Gilmore's Opinion of Signor Fanciulli.

The following letter speaks for itself:

NEW YORK CITY, July 11, '92.

HON. B. F. TRACY,

DEAR SIR:

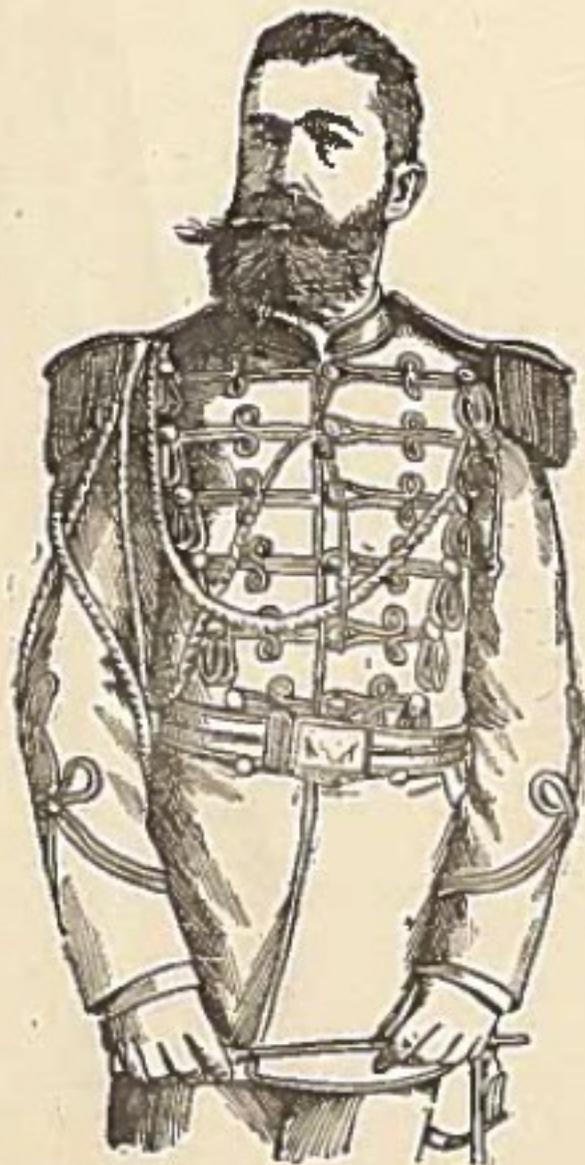

Signor Fanciulli is a first class musician in every sense, a good—yes, a great—composer, who thoroughly understands arranging most effectively for military bands. Under his direction the Marine Band would attain the highest measure of perfection.

I have the honor to remain, dear sir,

Your obedient servant,

P. S. GILMORE.

Gilmore's prophecy is fulfilled! Prof. Fanciulli's fitness as conductor of the United States Marine Band is demonstrated in the marked improvement the band has attained under his leadership. Prof. Fanciulli personally co-operates with us in bringing out in our work the finest effects of which the band is capable, and our latest records will add to the fame of this excellent leader and composer and his great band.

PROF. FANCIULLI.

April, 1894.

U. S. Marine Band.

The United States Marine Band is the most famous musical organization on the Western Hemisphere. It is the official band of the President of the United States, plays at the White House on all state occasions and at Inaugural Balls.

Our list of selections by this famous band has been carefully revised and rearranged. Many new selections are added and only the very best of the musical gems in the library of the band are listed.

- 11 A Sea-sick Bridegroom.
- 12 The Lord Will Help Me On My Way, (Negro)

THE TAYLOR BROS. TRIO.

These gentlemen are well known and popular vocalists of Washington. The records are much the same as quartette records, but give a greater volume without harshness. The words are clearly spoken and the parts well sustained.

- 1 I Board at Mrs. Dooley's.
- 2 Medley Trio.
- 3 Telephone the News on High.
- 4 The Last Kiss Grandma Gave Me.
- 5 Meet Me at the Golden Gate.

SONGS.

By George E. Terry.

Mr. Terry is one of Washington's popular vocalists. He has a good baritone voice, and he sings with charming effect. His records are sure to become very popular. The list will be enlarged as fast as possible by adding the newest and most popular songs as they appear.

- 1 After the Ball.
- 2 Kiss and Let's Make Up.

- 3 Do, Do, My Huckleberry, Do!
- 4 Not the Only One.

RECITATIONS.

Our endeavor to create a demand for high class recitations has proved a step in the right direction, and we are daily receiving letters testifying to the superb quality of the records. They are carefully made, the words are clear and distinct, and the subjects are well adapted either to public use or the home circle.

CHARLES B. HANFORD.

Mr. Hanford has been before the American public for many years. He has been leading support of such world-famed artists as Keene, Robson and Crane, Modjeska, Julia Marlow, and the Booth-Barrett combination. He bids fair to become the leading tragedian on the American stage. His rendition of well known gems of poetry gives them new life and meaning. His voice is excellently suited to the Phonograph, and his records are worthy of a place in all fine collections. They are prepared only for this company.

THE 'RASTUS SERIES.

By D. C. Bangs.

Mr. Bangs is a very clever humorist. His selections in our previous catalogues have already made him known to our customers. He has arranged this series especially for the phonograph, and his practice as a record-maker has been put to good advantage in the new selections and re-arrangement of old favorites. The records are carefully made, only one being prepared at a time, and the dialect is that of the Southern "darky" to perfection. After you have heard one of these cylinders, you will want the whole series.

1. 'Rastus and the Watermillion. 'Rastus discovers a youthful sinner and corrects him in truly philosophical manner.

2. 'Rastus and the Ship of Faith. He discourses on one of his favorite topics in a very interesting manner, and relates a miraculous example of saving grace.

3. 'Rastus and 'Meriky's Conversion. 'Rastus' daughter has some religious views which do not agree with those of the old man, and he proceeds to revise them in a manner both vigorous and effectual.

4. 'Rastus' Lecture on Apples. A unique and amusing talk on this popular fruit and its resemblance to the human race.

5. 'Rastus' Blessing on the Dance. He invokes special Divine favor on this popular recreation and gives his reasons for departing from the straight and narrow path.

6. 'Rastus on Steamboat Explosions. 'Rastus and Luce have an entertaining conversation on what might happen, which leads 'Rastus to the expression of a very decided opinion.

7. 'Rastus Ideas on Baptism. The old gentleman is enlightened about several Biblical miracles and thinks he has found an easy way to salvation.

8. 'Rastus at the Razor Social. He relates his experience with his best girl at an evening party, much to the enjoyment of his hearers.

9. 'Rastus' Trip to the Promised Land. He experiences a change of heart, thinks he is not long for this world, but proves a miserable backslider.

---

Mr. Bangs has not confined himself to the dialect series, but continues to supply us with records of his recitations of other classes as follows:

DRAMATIC AND SERIOUS.

- 1 Hamlet's Soliloquy on Death.
- 2 Shylock, in The Merchant of Venice.

THE STANDARD QUARTETTE.

During a recent visit of this famous quartette to Washington, we obtained their services. They make a specialty of old-fashioned melodies and jubilee songs and have no equals in that line. They are all "gentlemen of color" and sing their distinctive songs with harmony and sweetness.

Swing Low Sweet Chariot,
My Old Kentucky Home,
Way Down in the Cornfield,
Steal Away to Jesus,
Keep Movin',
Poor Mourner,
Who Broke the Lock on the Henhouse Door?
Tapioca Medley,
Say Bo, Give Me Them Two Bits.

SONGS
by
EDDIE GIGUERE.

Mr. Giguere is the well-known yodler of the Police Patrol Company. He has remarkable use of his voice and the cylinders listed below, while hardly loud enough for horn reproduction, are attractive especially for the slot machine.

Hush Don't Wake the Baby, (with yodle)
French Yodle,

IMPORTANT.

We desire to remind those who have Automatic or exhibition Phonographs or Graphophones that in order to make money and keep up the earnings of their machines, they must continue to use only good, loud and attractive records.

All records listed in this catalogue are first-class originals, unequalled for brilliancy, clearness and general excellence.

We keep constantly in stock a large variety of choice records of which we can make no catalogue, the list being changed from week to week. We bring eminent artists from New York, Boston, Chicago and other cities at great expense, for the express purpose of making records of their specialties. We also draw regularly upon the theatres here for the best songs of the vocalists, serious and comic, visiting Washington. We will be pleased to fill orders for miscellaneous records from the material on hand from time to time, making selections according to our own judgment.

In ordering please state clearly whether you desire records for horn reproduction, slot machine or multiple tubes.

To guard against errors, always give name and number of selection as well as class of record.

To facilitate prompt filling of orders, customers are requested to give us the privilege of substituting another record for any specific selection which at the time may not be in stock. Unless otherwise instructed we will exercise this liberty.

Unless cash accompanies order, goods will be sent C. O. D. Return express charges can be saved by remitting with your order.

U. S. Marine Band.

The United States Marine Band is the most famous musical organization on the Western Hemisphere. It is the official band of the President of the United States, and plays at the White House on all state occasions and at Inaugural Balls.

Our list of selections by this famous band has been carefully revised and rearranged. Many new selections are added and only the very best of the musical gems in the library of the band are listed.

Phonograph records of the Marine Band are made exclusively by this Company. All high class originals—no duplicates made or sold.

SONGS

By GEORGE J. GASKIN,

The Pioneer Phonograph Singer.

Mr. Gaskin is too widely known to require much mention. He has recently completed an engagement with us and has supplied us with the latest and best of his selections. His voice was never in better condition and finer records from this popular vocalist have never been made. Every one is loud and ringing in tone, each word and syllable distinct. They may be heard in the remotest corner of a great theatre if horn is attached, yet are not unpleasantly loud when heard through the tubes.

- 1 Sweet Marie.
- 2 The Fatal Wedding. ✓ 1 ✓ 2

SONGS

By GEORGE D. SCOTT.

Though new to Phonograph work, Mr. Scott makes records which compare favorably with the work of vocalists who have had long experience in that line. Many of his selections are of his own composition and show much originality and humor.

- 1 Duffy's Blunders.
- 2 I've Worked Eight Hours To-day.
- 3 Peggy Cline.
- 4 The Irish Christening.
- 5 A One-Horse Street Car.
- 6 I Forgot It.

- 10 Flanagan, His Wife and the Poker.
- 11 A Sea-sick Bridegroom.
- 12 The Lord Will Help Me On My Way (Negro).

SONGS.

By W. A. McCABE.

Mr. McCabe is a tenor soloist of considerable ability and his records will probably become popular. The list embraces only the latest and best selections.

- 1 Sweet Marie.
- 2 Back Among the Old Folks Once Again.
- 3 Wont You be My Sweetheart?
- 4 The Volunteer Organist.
- 5 When Summer Comes Again.
- 6 Little Bonnie Dean.
- 7 ~~Little Johnnie Dugan.~~

SONGS.

By A. C. WEAVER.

Mr. Weaver is a "specialist" in comic songs—possessed of a good baritone voice, a happy delivery and clear enunciation. The character of the selections insures for them a ready hearing.

- 1 What The Wild Waves Are Saying.
- 2 The Coon That Got The Shake.
- 3 Mamie, Come Kiss Your Honey-Boy.
- 4 ~~Bundle-Bill's Wild West.~~
- 5 ~~The Whistling Coon.~~

THE TAYLOR BROS. TRIO.

~~These gentlemen are well known and popular vocalists of Washington. The records are worth the same as quartette records, but give a greater volume without harshness. The words are clearly spoken and the parts well sustained.~~

- 1 I Board at Mrs. Dooley's.
- 2 Medley Trio.
- 3 Telephone the News on High.
- 4 The Last Kiss Grandma Gave Me.
- 5 Meet Me at the Golden Gate.

SPECIAL III

Every exhibitor of Talking Machines is frequently asked for speeches of famous men. Here is a series that will bring satisfaction and profit. The records are well prepared and exceedingly clever. We wish it distinctly understood that they are imitations—good ones, too—of the voices indicated. This, however, will not make their possession less desirable.

PRICE $1.25 EACH.

(Sold as specials only. Not subject to any discounts).

- 1 Gladstone's Message to Edison.
- 2 Gladstone's Speech on Self-Help.
- 3 The Ravings of John McCullough.
- 4 Edwin Booth's Othello.

PICCOLO SOLOS.

We present to our patrons a list of Piccolo Solos performed by the Renowned Flute Soloist of the Marine Band,

THE 'RASTUS SERIES.

B. D. C. BANGS.

Mr. Bangs is a very clever humorist. His selections in our previous catalogues have already made him known to our customers. He has arranged this series especially for the phonograph, and his practice as a record-maker has been put to good advantage in the new selections and re-arrangement of old favorites. - The records are carefully made, only one being prepared at a time, and the dialect is that of the Southern "darky" to perfection. After you have heard one of these cylinders, you will want the whole series.

1. 'Rastus and the Watermill. 'Rastus' discovers a youthful sinner and corrects him in truly philosophical manner.

2. 'Rastus and the Ship of Faith. He discourses on one of his favorite topics in a very interesting manner, and relates a miraculous example of saving grace.

3. 'Rastus and 'Meriky's Conversion. 'Rastus' daughter has some religious views which do not agree with those of the old man, and he proceeds to revise them in a manner both vigorous and effectual.

4. 'Rastus' Lecture on Apples. A unique and amusing talk on this popular fruit and its resemblance to the human race.

5. 'Rastus' Blessing on the Dance. He invokes special Divine favor on this popular recreation and gives his reason for departing from the straight and narrow path.

6. 'Rastus on Steamboat Explosions. 'Rastus and Lore have an entertaining conversation on what might happen, which leads 'Rastus to the expression of a very decided opinion.

7. 'Rastus Ideas on Baptism. The old gentleman is enlightened about several Biblical miracles and thinks he has found an easy way to salvation.

8. 'Rastus at the Razor Social. He relates his experience with his best girl at an evening party, much to the enjoyment of his hearers.

9. 'Rastus' Trip to the Promised Land. He experiences a change of heart, thinks he is not long for this world, but proves a miserable backslider.

Mr. Bangs has not confined himself to the dialect series, but continues to supply us with records of his recitations of other classes as follows:

DRAMATIC AND SERIOUS.

- 1 Hamlet's Soliloquy on Death.
- 2 Shylock, in The Merchant of Venice.
- 3 Othello's Apology to the Senate.

HOW TO GET THEM.

SEND $6, cash with order, for any twelve selected from this catalogue. If less than twelve are wanted, 60 cents each; if more than twelve, 50 cents each.

If full amount of cash does not accompany order, goods will be sent C. O. D., provided a deposit is sent with order to guarantee express charges. Express company's charges for returning money can be saved by sending full amount of cash with order.

Write orders plainly, adding full address and shipping directions. Order by number only.

If possible, make a double list, naming "second choice" of selections in the event those preferred first are not in stock. Unless this is done we take the liberty of substituting records of our own selection when necessary—except when direct instructions not to do so are given.

Great care is exercised in packing, and receipts are obtained for all goods forwarded "in good order." Our liability ceases when goods are delivered to carriers.

Records are always sent by express. They cannot be safely transported by mail.

Talking Records.

Recitations by D. C. Bangs.

Mr. Bangs is a very clever humorist. His records are carefully made, only one being prepared at a time.

3001. 'Eccles and the Watermillion. 'Rastus discovers a youthful sinner and corrects him in truly philosophical manner.

3002. 'Rastus and 'Meriky's Conversion. 'Rastus' daughter has some religious views which do not agree with those of the old man and he proceeds to revise them in a manner both vigorous and effectual.

3003. 'Rastus on Steamboat Explosions. 'Rastus and Luce have an entertaining conversation on what might happen, which leads 'Rastus to the expression of a very decided opinion.

3004. 'Rastus Ideas on Baptism. The old gentleman is enlightened about several Biblical miracles, and thinks he has found an easy way to salvation.

3005. 'Rastus' Trip to the Promised Land. He experiences a change of heart, thinks he is not long for this world, but proves a miserable backslider.

Mr. Bangs has not confined himself to the dialect series, but continues to supply us with records of his recitations of other classes as follows:

- 3006. Othello's Apology to the Senate.
- 3007. The charge of the Light Brigade.
- 3008. Somebody's Mother (Pathetic).
- 3009. The Champion Snorer (Humorous).
- 3010. A Stamp Speech on Love.
- 3011. A Lack of Hair (Serio-Comie).

The Auctioneer—W. O. Beckenbaugh.

"Beckenbaugh, The Leather Lugged Auctioneer," has made himself famous by his records, which we have sold throughout the world. These novel cylinders are exceedingly popular for exhibition work, especially in displaying the marvelous qualities of the Talking Machine in reproducing rapid speech.

- 3012. Sale of Pawnbroker's Goods.
- 3013. Sale of Suburban Lots.
- 3014. Sale of Christmas Dolls, Toys, etc., (Interrupted by Small Boys).

...OF...

“COLUMBIA RECORDS.”

THE Success of the Columbia Records has been unprecedented; and the demand for them from all parts of the world has long been great. Our army of patrons know our records are the best and are cheap only in price. Those who use them know it pays to deal with headquarters. If those who have not as yet availed themselves of this privilege, will favor us with a sample order, we will demonstrate to their entire satisfaction that our position as

Headquarters for Talking Machines and Talking Machine Supplies,

and our superior facilities for the manufacture of everything pertaining to the business, make it possible for us not only to supply records which cannot be equalled in quality, but to furnish our patrons with them at less than the cost at which they can actually be made elsewhere. The enormous sale of our records is not due alone to the fact that they are offered at a low figure—poor records being dear at any price—but more particularly to the fact that a comparison between them and the high-priced ones offered by small dealers always results in further orders for our goods, and in the enthusiastic support of our patrons. If you are not among the fortunate ones who use our records, send your sample order at once, and put our claims to the test.

How to Get Them.

Send $6 cash with order for any twelve selected from this catalogue. If less than twelve are wanted, 60 cents each; if more than twelve, 50 cents each.

If full amount of cash does not accompany order, goods will be sent C. O. D., provided a deposit is sent with order to guarantee express charges. Remember! A deposit must positively accompany all C. O. D. orders, as no goods can be shipped on such orders without it.

Price, 60 Cents Each; $6.00 Per Doz.
ORDER BY NUMBER ONLY.

Express company's charges for returning money can be saved by sending full amount of cash with order; and it is of course cheaper to order in this way.

How to Send Money.

Remit by bank draft, P. O. money order, express order, or registered letter—never by personal check, as that method occasions delay in the shipment of the goods.

How to Order.

Read Carefully.

Write orders plainly, adding full address and shipping directions. Order by number only.

Where it is possible, always state whether the records are to be used with horn or with hearing tubes. This will enable us to give your order more intelligent attention than we could otherwise do, and will insure better results in the use of the records.

If possible, make a double list, naming "second choice" of selections in the event those preferred first are not in stock. Unless this is done we take the liberty of substituting records of our own selection when necessary—except when direct instructions not to do so are given. Please bear this rule in mind, and state your wishes in ordering, as we will assume that you wish us to substitute if you do not advise us otherwise. It is well, where it can be conveniently done, to enclose a list of the records you have, when it is desired that we substitute in the manner suggested, as we will then be able to avoid duplicating any that you already have.

Records are always sent by express, being too fragile to be safely transported by mail. Great care is exercised in packing, and all of our receipts from express companies and other carriers, are for goods forwarded "in good order." Our liability ceases when goods are delivered to carriers. We guarantee all of our goods to be exactly as represented, however; and for the benefit of the few who are not familiar with our method of transacting business, would say that we will take back and exchange for any others named, any records which, upon examination, do not prove to be satisfactory, provided they are shipped to us immediately upon their receipt, at the purchaser's risk, and with all charges prepaid; and are received at our office in same condition as when forwarded by us. This offer does not apply, of course, to records which have been in use.

Price, 60 Cents Each; $6.00 Per Doz.
ORDER BY NUMBER ONLY.

Columbia Band Records.

Our Band Records are the standard of musical excellence in this line the world over. They are so universally used, and are such perfect reproductions of the work of the greatest musical organizations of the century, that to admit that you have not heard them is to confess that you have neglected opportunities for enjoyment and education in the realm of musical endeavor, which cannot be equalled. The Columbia Band Records are made by the master musicians of the age; and present so high a standard of musical excellence, that it is impossible to duplicate them elsewhere at any price.

U. S. MARINE BAND.

The United States Marine Band is the official band of the President of the United States, and plays at the White House on all state occasions, and at Inaugural Balls and other official gatherings in Washington. Our talking records cannot be duplicated anywhere. Every word is clear and distinct, and every tone and inflection faithfully reproduced.

Recitations by D. C. Bangs.

Mr. Bangs is a very clever humorist. His records are carefully made, only one being prepared at a time.

3001. 'Rastus and the Watermillion. 'Rastus discovers a youthful sinner and corrects him in truly philosophical manner.
3002. 'Rastus and 'Meriky's Conversion. 'Rastus' daughter has some religious views which do not agree with those of the old man and he proceeds to revise them in a manner both vigorous and effectual.
3003. 'Rastus on Steamboat Explosions. 'Rastus and Luce have an entertaining conversation on what might happen, which leads 'Rastus to the expression of a very decided opinion.
3004. 'Rastus Ideas on Baptism. The old gentleman is enlightened about several Biblical miracles, and thinks he has found an easy way to salvation.
3005. 'Rastus' Trip to the Promised Land. He experiences a change of heart, thinks he is not long for this world, but proves a miserable backslider.

Price, 60 Cents Each; $6.00 Per Doz.
ORDER BY NUMBER ONLY.

Mr. Bangs has not confined himself to the dialect series, but continues to supply us with records of his recitations of other classes as follows:

 5 Nothing's too Good for the Irish (An Irish Surprise).

SONGS.

By J. W. MYERS,

The Honous Baritone.

With Piano Accompaniment.

For artistic rendition no vocal records compare with these. They represent the highest state of the art. Mr. Myers' name is familiar wherever Talking Machines are used.

- 1 The Clock of the Universe.
 2 The Side-walks of New York.
 3 The Coast-Guard's Daughter.
 4 The Heart Bowed Down.
 5 Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep.

- 9 Whose Little Girl Are You.
- 10 Nearer, My God, to Thee.
- 11 Rock of Ages.

THE BRILLIANT QUARTETTE.

We are glad to announce a fresh supply of these records. We have not been able to procure them for some time and our present stock is not very large.

- 1 Blind Tom (Negro camp meeting shout).
- 2 Mary Ann Medley (With yodling chorus).
- 3 The Song of the Steeple (With marvelous imitation of church organ).
- 4 Grandfather's Birthday (Introducing grandfather's laugh).
- 5 Hear Dem Bells (With imitation of pealing bells).
- 6 The Steam Calliope (Introducing German melody and yodling).
- 7 I'se Gwine Back to Dixie (Solo and chorus).
- 8 The Fatal Wedding (Solo and chorus).

THE MANHATTAN QUARTETTE.

(Of Dockstader's Minstrels.)

These records are good for tube use, but not loud enough for reproduction through the horn. We obtained only a few and patrons wishing good quartette music, free from harshness or blast, should order at once.

- 1 Calliope Medley.
- 2 Plantation Medley.
- 3 Southern Medley.
- 4 Sunshine Will Come Again.
- 5 A Negro's Holliday.

SPECIAL III

Every exhibitor of Talking Machines is frequently asked for speeches of famous men. Here is a series that will bring satisfaction and profit. The records are well prepared and exceedingly clever. They are imitations—good ones, too—of the voices indicated. This, however, will not make their possession less desirable.

PRICE $1.25 EACH.

- 1 Gladstone's Message to Edison.
- 2 Gladstone's Speech on Self-Help.
- 3 The Ravings of John McCullough.
- 4 Edwin Booth's Othello.

THE FAMOUS CASEY SERIES.

Here is a selected list of these celebrated records, embracing the very best of the series—up-to-date and funnier than ever.

- 22 Casey as an Insurance Agent.
- 23 The Bureau (Humorous Recitation in Yankee Dialect).

THE 'RASTUS SERIES.

By D. C. BANGS.

Mr. Bangs is a very clever humorist. His records are carefully made, only one being prepared at a time.

1. 'Rastus and the Watermillion. 'Rastus discovers a youthful sinner and corrects him in truly philosophical manner.

2. 'Rastus and the Ship of Fate. He discourses on one of his favorite topics in a very interesting manner, and relates a miraculous example of saving grace.

3. 'Rastus and 'Meriky's Conversion. 'Rastus' daughter has some religious views which do not agree with those of the old man, and he proceeds to revise them in a manner both vigorous and effectual.

4. 'Rastus' Lecture on Apples. A unique and amusing talk on this popular fruit and its resemblance to the human race.

5. 'Rastus' Blessing on the Dance. He invokes special Divine favor on this popular recreation and gives his reason for departing from the straight and narrow path.

6. 'Rastus on Steamboat Explosions. 'Rastus and Luce have an entertaining conversation on what might happen, which leads 'Rastus to the expression of a very decided opinion.

7. 'Rastus Ideas on Baptism. The old gentleman is enlightened about several Biblical miracles and thinks he has found an easy way to salvation.

8. 'Rastus at the Razor Social. He relates his experience with his best girl at an evening party, much to the enjoyment of his hearers.

9. 'Rastus' Trip to the Promised Land. He experiences a change of heart, thinks he is not long for this world, but proves a miserable backslider.

Mr. Bangs has not confined himself to the dialect series, but continues to supply us with records of his recitations of other classes as follows :

DRAMATIC AND SERIOUS.

- 1 Hamlet's Soliloquy on Death.
- 2 Shylock, in The Merchant of Venice.
- 3 Othello's Apology to the Senate.
- 4 Part of Trial Scene, Merchant of Venice.
- 5 The Charge of the Light Brigade.

- 8 Rock of Ages.

EXTRA.

We have a choice stock of miscellaneous records—not enough of any one selection to list—embracing Leachman's songs, the Standard Quartet in well-known Negro melodies, banjo duets by Cullen and Collins, and an assortment of vocal records by various artists, from which we will be glad to fill orders, using our own judgment. The stock includes many descriptive and "specialty" selections, and the records are guaranteed first grade.

SPECIAL!!!

Every exhibitor of Talking Machines is frequently asked for speeches of famous men. Here is a series that will bring satisfaction and profit. The records are well prepared and exceedingly clever. They are imitations—good ones too—of the voices indicated.

Price, $1.25 Each.

- 1 Gladstone's Message to Edison.
- 2 Gladstone's Speech on Self-Help.
- 3 The Ravings of John McCullough.

THE 'RASTUS SERIES,

By D. C. BANGS.

Mr. Bangs is a very clever humorist. His records are carefully made, only one being prepared at a time.

1. 'Rastus and the Watermillion. 'Rastus discovers a youthful sinner and corrects him in truly philosophical manner.

2. 'Rastus and the Ship of Fate. He discourses on one of his favorite topics in a very interesting manner, and relates a miraculous example of saving grace.

3. 'Rastus and 'Meriky's Conversion. 'Rastus' daughter has some religious views which do not agree with those of the old man, and he proceeds to revise them in a manner both vigorous and effectual.

4. 'Rastus' Lecture on Apples. A unique and amusing talk on this popular fruit and its resemblance to the human race.

5. 'Rastus' Blessing on the Dance. He invokes special Divine favor on this popular recreation and gives his reason for departing from the straight and narrow path.

6. 'Rastus on Steamboat Explosions. 'Rastus and Luce have an entertaining conversation on what might happen, which leads 'Rastus to the expression of a very decided opinion.

7. 'Rastus' Ideas on Baptism. The old gentleman is enlightened about several Biblical miracles, and thinks he has found an easy way to salvation.

8. 'Rastus at the Razor Social. He relates his experience with his best girl at an evening party, much to the enjoyment of his hearers.

9. 'Rastus' Trip to the Promised Land. He experiences a change of heart, thinks he is not long for this world, but proves a miserable backslider.

Mr. Bangs has not confined himself to the dialect series, but continues to supply us with records of his recitations of other classes as follows:

DRAMATIC AND SERIOUS.

- 1 Hamlet's Soliloquy on Death.
- 2 Shylock, in The Merchant of Venice.
- 3 Othello's Apology to the Senate.
- 4 Part of Trial Scene, Merchant of Venice.
- 5 The Charge of the Light Brigade.

PATHETIC.

- 1 Left on the Battlefield.
- 2 The Idiot Boy.
- 3 The Gambler's Wife.
- 4 Somebody's Mother.
- 5 The Street of Bye and Bye.

HUMOROUS.

THE GREAT AND ONLY

LEVY!!

Superb!

Incomparable!

LEVY—THE WORLD'S GREATEST CORNETIST—The one artist whose mastery of his instrument has made him greater than the instrument—the man who has thrilled millions by the power of his marvellous execution—can now be brought to you to render his choicest gems at your pleasure. He had never performed for the Graphophone before, and so charmed was he with its accuracy of reproduction of every tone and note that he carried a Graphophone away with him when he left us, that he might always hereafter “hear himself as others hear him.” You may have this Prince of Cornetists at your service now whenever you wish. Millions have paid high prices for standing room to hear him play. For the price of a seat at one of his concerts you can procure a record of his superb music to be reproduced long after the artist is dead and gone—for Levy is about to retire from the concert stage, and to many millions of people this is the first as well as the last opportunity to hear him. If you have a talking machine; if you haven't one now but intend to get it in the future (however remote), or if you have friends or acquaintances who possess them and who will permit you to use theirs, you should invest in one or more of these records.

We may not be able to replenish the stock of these remarkable records; therefore, the opportunity is NOW!

PRICE, $2.00 EACH.

- A. The Blue Bells of Scotland (with variations).
- B. Hearts (Beautiful Waltz Song by the Author of “After the Ball”).
- C. The Palms.
- D. The Old Folks at Home (Savannah River).
- E. Nearer My God to Thee.
- F. The Star Spangled Banner and Yankee Doodle.
- G. Ben Bolt.
- H. Then You'll Remember Me.
- I. Say Au Revoir, But Not Good-Bye.
- K. Du Du (German Song, with Superb Variations arranged by Levy).
- L. My Country 'Tis of Thee (Played in Four Octaves—Marvellous Execution).
- M. Alice, Where Art Thou.
- N. Home, Sweet Home.
